

Salesman Confesses He Has Wife Here, Another In Chicago

Hugo A. Cordt Arrested When He Fails To Support Chicago Family

AWAIT CHICAGO OFFICERS

Second Wife Ignorant Of Other Family Until Husband Is Arrested

The dual life of Hugo A. Cordt, 38, of 399 Pacific-st., confessed bigamist, lasted hardly more than a year. The difficulty of supporting two families led to the betrayal of his secret which he has been endeavoring to hide from Mrs. Cordt No. 2.

Cordt, who is a traveling salesman, well known in the Fox river valley, is being held by Chief George T. Prim in the city jail to be turned over to the Chicago officers who were to arrive in Appleton Monday.

The woman whom the salesman married illegally is Mrs. Mable Schantz, formerly Miss Mable Werner of New London. They were married at Escanaba, Mich., on Aug. 7, 1922. Mrs. Schantz has three children of a former marriage.

CHARGE NONSUPPORT

Discovery of Cordt's secret was brought about Saturday when Chief Prim received a communication from Chief Morgan A. Collins of the Chicago police force asking for the arrest of Hugo A. Cordt, said to be living at 399 Pacific-st., who was wanted in Chicago for failure to support properly for the support of his family of that city.

The salesman was at home with wife No. 2 when Chief Prim and Officer John Kobussen called at their Pacific-st. home. Cordt nearly collapsed, and nervously consented to accompany the chief.

It was then that Cordt's wife illegally married wife suspected her husband's duplicity, and asked him if he was the husband of another woman. Both husband and wife struggled for control of their emotions.

Cordt admitted that he had not secured a divorce from his first wife before marrying Mrs. Schantz in Escanaba. He said he had struggled hard to support both families.

Mrs. Schantz is torn with grief over the situation her marriage has brought her into.

"I am not thinking of myself," she sobbed. "It is of my children."

Her children, Genevieve, 15, Virginia, 14, Dorothy, 12, are attending school here. They are of her marriage to Anton Schantz, whom she divorced several years ago.

No effort will be made by Mrs. Cordt to prosecute the man whom she thought was her legal husband.

"I did not know of this trouble until the day the police officers came. Mr. Cordt always was such a kind man."

AWAIT CHICAGO POLICE

Local authorities, it is understood, will not undertake to prosecute the man on the bigamy count, as they believe that this is a matter for the Chicago authorities who had asked for his arrest on the nonsupport charge.

Cordt, when interviewed in his cell at the police station, begged the Post-Crescent representative, to refrain from publishing anything about the case. For the sake of his wife here and his own children in Chicago, he asked.

"I was a fool," he whimpered. "I don't know what ever possessed me to do this anyway, for no man can do it without being found out some time."

He said he married his first wife, who was Mary Kort, about 14 years ago in Chicago. Their names are similar, but they are not relatives.

Four children were born to the couple. Robert who is now 12 years, Evelyn 11, Marian 8, and Howard 7.

Love between Mr. and Mrs. Cordt did not run smooth according to the former. Mrs. Cordt was continually "nagging" at him and never appeared to be satisfied with anything her husband did.

"Often I would bring her home presents and do all the other things calculated by a husband to make a woman happy. She appreciated none of these things."

"She didn't want me around. Why, when my brother died, she openly told that she wished that it had been I that died."

"But in spite of this, I have been

Clasp On Fur Saves Women From Bullet

Mrs. Oscar Damsheuser, 979 Atlantic-st., may not have paid as fortune for the fur neckpiece she wears, but it is more precious than gold to her since Sunday, when a clasp attached to it saved her life.

Mr. and Mrs. Damsheuser and their two sons had gone by automobile to a wooded spot on the Wolf river at the west border of the county to spend the day. They spread their lunch there and were enjoying it in the quiet of the country when a bullet suddenly whizzed past Mr. Damsheuser brushing his clothing. It struck the clasp on his wife's fur, which arrested its progress and it fell to the ground.

The family did not wait to find out who fired the shot, but made a hasty exit in their automobile and kept it speeding until they reached open country.

The region was full of prairie chicken hunters, and it is believed a stray bullet came their direction.

Senator Defends Esch-Cummins Bill In Address Here Saturday Night

Railroads, freight and passenger rates, the constitution of the United States, the United States supreme court, economic conditions, agriculture, taxes, wages and the European situation were among the questions discussed by Senator Irvine L. Lenroot at Lawrence Memorial hall Saturday evening.

The hall was only partially filled, and in introducing the speaker Mark S. Catlin, who presided, said he regretted that the senator's itinerary was such as to bring him here on Saturday evening when the majority of people were otherwise engaged.

"I, too, am very sorry," said Senator Lenroot, "that my engagements were such that I could not come to Appleton except on Saturday night. I realize very well how busy and in-grown people are upon that evening. I am glad to be here, notwithstanding and talk to you a little while on some of the questions that all Americans ought to be talking about at this time."

"I am glad to come at a time when I am not a candidate for any office; when I am not seeking votes; when there is no heat of a campaign."

RAPS TROUBLEMAKERS

"There are people in the United States today who are trying to divide our people into classes and groups, arraying group against group; class against class; religion against religion; and season against season."

There never was a time when there was greater need for our people being united for their own welfare than now."

In discussing the economic conditions of the country Senator Lenroot said agriculture suffered more than any other business. The farmers get very little for their produce and are required to pay a high price for manufactured goods.

"If our government of this country is better off than any other class of farmers in the country, he said."

In analyzing the railroad situation the senator showed why freight and passenger rates are higher than they were before the world war. He said:

"Although freight and passenger rates were reduced last year, they are still much higher than before the war, and there is an insistent demand upon the part of many for further reductions. We cannot hope to arrive at a correct conclusion in this matter."

NO SOLUTION FOUND IN U. S. SHIP PUZZLE

Washington—President Coolidge has been advised by members of the shipping board that a thorough canvass of the situation has failed to develop any suggested plan of operating the governments merchant fleet which offers hope of escaping a definite and continued deficit.

Completion of the various factors which enter into marine transportation place "a fixed differential" of $5 a ton against American ships, the president was informed, and this handicap will be met regardless of the method of operation devised by the board.

IDEALISM OF U. S. PRAISED BY COOLIDGE

Nearly One Thousand Red Cross Delegates Hear Opening Address Of President

Washington—President Coolidge headed the speakers at the opening session Monday of the annual convention of the American Red Cross. Nearly a thousand delegates, were assembled to hear the president as president-officer, deliver his first public address since he took office.

Ambassador Hamihara of Japan, for whose earthquake sufferers the Red Cross has just completed one of the most important relief campaigns of its history, and Colonel William K. Haskell, director of American relief in Russia and Greece were among other speakers.

A deep faith in the spiritual things, tempered by a hard common sense adapted to the needs of the world is the kind of practical idealism that is represented in the history of America, President Coolidge said Monday in an address before the annual convention of the American Red Cross. The people, he added, are not likely to adopt any other course.

The idealism of which he spoke, the president said, was illustrated by the men who went to the rescue of Europe when their own liberty and the liberty of the world was in peril, but who, after victory was secured, retired from the field "unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached and unbought."

FIRST FORMAL SPEECH

President Coolidge's address, his first formal utterance was devoted to praise of the qualities which have made the Red Cross a success: "Clief among these, he said, was its practical idealism."

"The American Red Cross is a modern application of an ancient principle," the president said. "The idea of charity is very old. It is included in the teachings of the earliest philosophers. It is one of the fundamental

EXPECT ARREST IN RISING SUN MURDER

Necktie Of Corpse Found In Hog Pasture Leads Police To Cincinnati

By Associated Press.

Prairie du Chien—The forecast of an arrest in a few days was the development Sunday night in the mystery of an unidentified man of the hog pasture of the A. B. Tully farm, near Rising Sun, Wis., thirty miles north of here, on Labor day.

A necktie, found near the skeleton, one of the few tangible clues in the mystery, shifted the scene of the probe temporarily to Cincinnati, O., where it had been purchased about six months ago from an exclusive haberdasher.

An examination of the skeleton and pieces of clothing found near it, indicate that the body must have lain in the pasture for about six months. It was said.

"The murderers are from this vicinity," was the comment of Sheriff Stevenson's office Sunday night, "and their arrest is just a matter of hours."

That robbery was the object of the murder is seen by authorities in the fact that the pockets in the trousers of the body had been emptied and turned inside out and that an expensive bill fold, bearing in gold initials "R. F." had been robbed of its contents. Judging from the skeleton, the man was of small stature he had been clothed in corduroy trousers, a brown shirt, linen underwear of good quality, a pair of shoes of expensive make and hand-sewn soles.

Looked Like Klux Meeting

Crowds gathered on the sidewalk on the opposite side of College-ave Saturday and Sunday evening watching the mysterious person in Ku Klux garb in a third story window of the Pomeroy building which is occupied by the local military band.

It has been discovered that the reflection which has caused so much excitement is produced by several lights and can be seen any time the lights are turned on. The figure wavers and at times is so dim it can scarcely be seen and at other times it apparently appears close to the window and is quite distinct.

The first night it was observed it was reported the Ku Klux Klan was holding a session.

WALTON MAKES USE OF BILL TO TELL STORY

Oklahoma Legislature Calls Meeting Despite Armed Guardsmen

By Associated Press.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Hours, separating the Oklahoma legislative and the executive formal clash narrowed to 48 Monday with the lines drawn taut between Governor J. C. Walton and those members of the house of representatives who seek to indict him as the preliminary step toward impeachment proceedings. Monday brought more witnesses and more testimony at both the Tulsa and Oklahoma City military courts of inquiry.

Charges of riot were expected to be made here against participants in a lashing party alleged to have been led by N. C. Jewett, grand dragon of the Oklahoma Ku Klux Klan.

On Wednesday—noon the house is called to meet in extraordinary session despite armed guardsmen before the doors of house and senate chambers. Governor Walton may not be the exclusive subject of legislative investigation, it was indicated.

Several members of the legislature may be asked for explanations of certain actions not mentioned.

Twenty-four hours after Governor Walton issued an appeal for $100,000 to establish a newspaper that he might "let the people know the truth," the executive told press correspondents he thought he would "just use hand bills larger than ordinary handbills, distributed about the streets and consisting of 4 to 8 pages."

Tulsa, Okla.—Testimony describing the burning of three houses in one night by masked men was heard by Governor J. C. Walton's military commission Monday morning as investigation into hooded band activities was resumed, a high officer of the commission declared.

A wedding ceremony performed in the center of a field in Creek-co, adjoining Tulsa-co, while the bridegroom was chained to a gas engine, with pistols leveled at his head was another case heard.

Terrific Storm Causes Fear That Crews Of Ten Balloons
Still Missing Have Been Lost

Brussels—Five airmen including two United States army lieutenants, lost their lives, another was seriously injured, and five balloons were smashed on the ground or destroyed by lightning in the James Bennett cup race, started Sunday under the most adverse weather conditions ever experienced in the race.

OFFICIALLY CONFIRMED

Brussels—Official advices confirmed the destruction of the Spanish balloon, Poland, and the Swiss balloon, Geneva, as well as the death of three other aeronauts in the race for the Gordon Bennett cup which started Sunday.

The Geneva was struck by lightning near Beverloo and burned in mid air at an altitude of 1,000 feet. Passants who ran to the spot found the dead bodies of Lieutenant Von Gruningen and Lieutenant Wehren.

The Poland also caught fire from a bolt and fell near Heyst-Goor. Her pilot, Penaranda Barca, was killed and his assistant, Gomez Guilanmon, whose fall was broken when an eddy of wind blew the car against a tree top, received fractures of both legs and other injuries. One of the American contestants, the St. Louis, was unable to take part in the race. She burst before the start when the pressure of the anchor rope proved too strong. The other two American entries, the United States army, S-6 and U. S. Navy, A-6699, had narrow escapes at the start. The S-6 collided with the Belgian entry, Y. Van De Bruzelles, damaging the latter. The A-6699 barely avoided a collision with some other balloons.

Among the dead are Lieutenant Olmstead and Lieutenant Choptaw of the United States army balloon S-6; Lieutenant Von Gruningen and Lieutenant Wehren of the Swiss balloon Geneva; and Penaranda Barca of the Spanish balloon Poland. Gomez Guilanmon, assistant to Barca in the Poland was seriously hurt.

The United States navy V-6699 and Fernandez III, a French entry piloted by G. Blanchet, were the only balloons reported as having landed safely.

FEAR FOR MISSING MEN

In view of the terrific storm which broke out half an hour after the last balloon took off, and raged until 10 o'clock, fears are entertained for the safety of the ten balloons not yet heard from. These are Bioname and Ravaine, balloon Picardy, France; Demuyter and Weenstra, balloon Belgica, Belgium; Dunville and Spencer, England; Armbruster and Picard, Switzerland; Delassiera and Magdalena, Spain.

Lieutenant Olmstead was killed, outright when lightning struck the balloon, while Lieutenant Choptaw died when the S-6 fell in the opinion of physicians. Lieutenant Olmstead's body was found under the bag in the basket, while his companion was about 25 feet away.

WON'T END STRIKE

New York—Members of the local union of pressmen whose unauthorized strike has hampered New York newspapers for a week have refused to return to work.

George L. He said his name had been forged to a number of telegrams sent to international Pressmen's officers in various cities stating no persons were wanted to fill the places of strikers.

FAMILIES WERE FRIENDLY

Neighbors Say Suspected Slayer Was Extremely Jealous Of His Wife

The hobbled shoes which made the tracks from the Henry Dietzler home in the town of Leeman to a place on the Wolf river, opposite the spot where Edwin R. Bedor was shot last Thursday, were delivered by Mrs. Dietzler to District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf on Saturday. Sheriff Otto Zuehlke and the district attorney trailed the hobbled footprints from the Dietzler home but could not find the shoes. Dietzler did not have them on when he was arrested and his wife refused to give them up. Saturday, however, she surrendered them to Mr. Lonsdorf.

The funeral of Bedor was to be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Hundreds of friends, neighbors, acquaintances and curiosity-seekers thronged the Bedor home near Leeman before the day of the funeral.

Mrs. Henry Dietzler wife of the man who is being held in the county jail on charge of murdering Bedor, was one of those who visited the bier. She made no answer as one of the men present pointed at the corpse saying, "There is the (calling Bedor by a harsh name) that started all this trouble." This was said with reference to Dietzler's accusation that his wife had been too friendly with her neighbor.

Dietzler, kept under close surveillance in the county jail, has a yet received no visit from his wife, according to Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke. The only member of his family to visit him since his arrest is a married daughter, Mrs. Al VanStraten of Stephensville.

Not since the murder of Mrs. Paul Kraus by her husband who hanged her in a closet in his home at Appleton some 15 years ago in the days of Sheriff Mike Lockery, has the county been startled with a murderer in its confines.

District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf made another trip to the vicinity of the shooting Saturday, and again on Sunday.

The bullet dug out of the ground across the river near the moonshine shanty to which Bedor had paddled was compared with the barrel Dietzler's rifle. It was a 32-40 cartridge the kind that were used in Dietzler's rifle.

A Post-Crescent investigator went over the ground of the slaying on Saturday, attempting to verify statements made by Bedor before his death and by Dietzler since his arrest. His summary of conditions as he found them in the town of Leeman follows:

For the past six years, Mr. Bedor and his family have lived on a farm, owned by J. J. Curtis. Mrs. Bedor's father, nine miles north of Shiloh on the Shawano road and during a part of that period, Mr. Dietzler conducted a meat market in the village of Shiloh.

During the high water a few years ago Mr. Dietzler lost some of his out buildings in Shiloh and met with other reverses and he gave up the butcher business and moved onto a small farm, north of the Allen farm on the Shawano road where the family is now living. Bedor, at the request of Dietzler moved the Dietzler household goods to the farm.

From the start, after the moving, the two families became very intimate. They visited back and forth and enjoyed dinners together. The members of one family rarely passed the home of the other without stopping to chat. Together they took automobile trips over country roads.

Bedor, it is said, was a moonshiner in a small way and as he had no car the past year, it is said that Dietzler drove him over the country to supply customers. The younger children played first at one home and then in the other, and the older girls of either family seldom passed by the home of the others without stopping for a visit.

It is said in Leeman that for some time Dietzler was suspicious of his wife, that he abused her on several occasions and threatened her life and that owing to such treatment, Mrs. Dietzler left her home several times and remained away from two to six weeks each time. She had been away two weeks visiting the home of her parents the day that Bedor murdered her first and came back the day after, when her husband was in jail.

Mrs. Bedor says that on the afternoon of the slaying her husband announced after dinner that he was going across the Wolf river to the sugar shanty of Len Allen to chop firewood and that he would return before 5 o'clock for an early supper. After the husband had gone, J. J. Curtis, Mrs. Bedor's father, drove her and one of her daughters in the direction of a general store to get a supply of groceries. As the automobile pulled up to

PLANS FOR 1924 FIGHT TAKE UP COOLIDGE TIME

Visits Of Political Leaders Give White House Campaign Atmosphere

A comfortable majority for the incumbent. Whenever it becomes apparent that Mr. Coolidge will not be particularly strong, his cohorts will make an effort to have the delegation go "uninstructed" so it can be further influenced in behalf of Mr. Coolidge when the national convention is held. Some delegations would naturally have instructions to cast their ballots for favorite sons. This may be especially true of Pennsylvania, where either Governor Pinchot or Senator Pepper may win the delegation. It is generally believed here that Mr. Coolidge may not get into the Pennsylvania primaries but that a delegation for Pepper would mean its transmission at convention time into a Coolidge delegation. Senator James Watson of Indiana is being urged by his friends to announce his candidacy but he has told them it would be a mistake to announce one's candidacy at this time when the Republican leaders felt President Coolidge should have a chance to show what he can do. Senator Hiram Johnson of California is said to be pursuing the same tactics. The probabilities are that the true will be determined when congress convenes in December.

HILLES MAY GET POST

Meanwhile the visit of Charles D. Hilles to the executive offices and the fact that he was entertained in the White House itself by President and Mrs. Coolidge has revived the report that Mr. Hilles may become chairman of the Republican national committee after the next convention. Successor Chairman John T. Adams has not yet indicated that he does not wish to undertake an arduous presidential campaign. There are well defined reports that had President Harding lived he would have been glad to see Mr. Hilles made national chairman in the event of a resignation by Mr. Adams. Mr. Hilles has long been identified with Republican national politics. He was secretary to President Taft and managed the 1912 campaign. Since then he has been mentioned as a possible appointee to the cabinet and it is known that Mr. Harding held his ability outside of politics in high esteem too.

Centering the campaign in New York state whose many votes would be helpful as a nucleus for Mr. Coolidge at the Republican convention, would have an effect, it is believed, on other eastern states. That is the strategy of the moment and President Coolidge is keeping himself closely informed as to the whole situation by conferences almost daily with leaders from all parts of the United States. The work done now will have an important bearing on the result of the 1924 convention, for commitments made thus early when rival candidates have not announced themselves will be especially valuable to the man in whose behalf they are made.

PRINCETON HOCKEY STAR DEAD IN CRASH

Daughter Of New York Financier In Critical Condition After Collision

By Associated Press

New York—Miss Adele Ryan, debutante daughter of John Barry Ryan, and daughter of Thomas Fortune Ryan, was in a critical condition Monday, the victim of an automobile crash early Sunday at Ashbury park which cost the life of Lewis Gordon Norrie, Princeton hockey star, and son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gordon Norrie of New York. Norrie and his friends in two automobiles, according to police, were speeding to his aunt's home at Red Bank, N. J., from a road house at 3 A. M. when Norrie's car which was preceding, collided with an automobile driven by Isador Orbatel of Newark, demolishing both cars. The second car in the Norrie party did not stop and the injured lay five minutes in a driving rain before they extricated one another and were taken to the hospital in a passing car. Chief of Police White of Neptune township said there was liquor in one of the cars.

Appointments, which are in most cases reappointments, to committees of the Appleton Teachers association have been made by B. W. Wells, association president. The educational program for the year has been condensed and meetings will be announced within a short time.

Those who will serve on the educational committee are Miss Mertie Culbertson, Miss Rachel Cody, Miss Alma Bohman, Mrs. M. S. Peerenboom, Miss Ada Hahn and Ben Robinson. The social committee will include Miss May Holmberg, Miss Jean Jackson, Miss Amanda Franske, Miss Mildred Hilbert, W. S. Ford, Harry Cameron, Josephine Elting, Pearl Rumpf and Regina King.

Reduce Your Fat Without Dieting

Years ago the formula for fat reduction was "diet"—"exercise." Today it is "Take Marmola Prescription Tablets." Friends tell friends—these friends tell others. They eat substantial food, live as they like and still reduce steadily and easily without going through long cases of unusual exercise and starvation diet. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists the world over at one dollar for a case, or if you prefer you can order direct from the Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. adv.

STOLEN P. O. SACKS HAD LITTLE LOOT

Inspectors Unsuccessful Thus Far In Identifying Neenah Thieves

More postoffice inspectors arrived in Neenah Monday morning to assist in running down the thieves who stole five sacks of mail from the Chicago and Northwestern railroad depot at that city early Saturday morning. Their work up to noon had revealed nothing, however.

It is believed now that the loot obtained by the robbers was not extensive. Nothing of consequence was thought to have been in the sacks. The registered mail traced thus far contained a small amount of jewelry and some money, the amount of which was not large.

AMERICAN SEAPLANE DESTROYED-IN CRASH

By Associated Press

London—The American seaplane entered for the seventh annual competition for the Schneider cup on Sept. 28, fell into the sea near Portsmouth and was totally wrecked. The occupants were picked up unhurt.

Movements of an automobile seen in that city were traced but the car was identified and found to have nothing to do with the robbery. Four youths living at Menasha were arrested on suspicion but close questioning by postoffice officials indicated that they were not implicated.

ARTERY STREET ORDINANCE NOW IN EFFECT HERE

Police Find Drivers Are Complying With Law Requiring Stops

The new arterial highway law in Appleton, Ordinance No. 219, went into effect with its publication in the Post-Crescent, Friday evening.

Most of the 100 red octagonal "Stop" signs have been erected at the intersections of the streets designated as arterial highways as a warning to vehicular traffic to come to a full stop before attempting to cross.

The ordinance is binding not only for automobiles, but also for street cars, horse drawn vehicles, motorcycles and bicycles, for the words of the ordinance define those subject to the law as follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person driving or operating a vehicle, whether propelled by animal or any other power, upon the public streets or alleys in the city of Appleton, to drive or cause the same to be driven onto any of the streets in the city of Appleton, designated and declared as streets for thorough traffic without first coming to a full stop."

Vehicles are obeying the new ordinance quite generally. It is observed by the police. Street cars too are stopping at the corners of streets designated as arterial highways. Automobileists are well familiar with the arterial highway regulations, as they are in force in most of the cities through which they have been driving. It is thus that the observance of these regulations becomes quite natural for them.

DOUGLAS MALLOCH COMING OCT. 16

Noted Humorist And Poet Will Speak Second Time To Chamber Of Commerce

About 200 people who laughed while attending one of the chamber of commerce meetings and for days afterward will have opportunity to repeat the performance next month. This announcement is given by Secretary Hugh G. Corbett, following receipt of a letter from Douglas Malloch, humorist and poet, who has accepted an invitation to speak here again, Oct. 16.

The October forum meeting had been arranged for Oct. 15, but when it was found that Mr. Malloch was not available on that date Oct. 16 was selected. This dinner will occur during fire prevention week and considerable attention will be given to this subject. Chief George P. McGillan of the fire department has been asked to map out a program which will best meet the local situation as to reduction of fire hazards and losses.

Mr. Malloch's talk will touch only in part on fire prevention. He sprinkles genuinely good humor wherever he goes and spreads the gospel of idealism through his poems, at least one of which he will recite.

One of the largest farms that ever went to the sheriff's auction block in this county was sold by Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke at 10 o'clock Friday morning when E. A. Knoke of Oshkosh submitted a bid of $30,000 for the 680-acre farm he formerly operated near Shiocton.

The sheriff's sale was the result of a foreclosure judgment in circuit court a year ago in the case of E. A. Knoke and Marie Knoke vs. O. B. Kittelson, Winifred Kittelson, J. T. Gravenor, Jessie A. Gravenor and Kathrina Janikiewicz.

The property is a modern cabbage farm with large up-to-date buildings that could not be replaced for $50,000. It is said Mr. Knoke was one of the principal cabbage growers of the state. After he had sold the farm to recent owners, he removed to Oshkosh.

Of the 680 acres, 80 acres are in section 7, town of Bovina, 400 acres in section 12, 80 acres in section 11 and 120 acres in section 1 of the town of Liberty.

OUR TRADE WITH EUROPE
When we observe statistics of foreign trade, we wish to see the balance in our favor; that is, we look on excess of exports over imports as an indication that we have the advantage of other nations in trading. It happens, of course, that we export more goods to one country than we receive from it, and from another country receive more raw materials or finished products than we ship. The net result, however, is what counts.
Secretary of Commerce Hoover reports some interesting facts for our consideration. In 1922 imports of all kinds exceeded exports to the amount of $586,000,000. The balance of trade was against us to that total. It should be remarked, however, by way of explanation, that "invisible factors" were included in the statistics.
The "invisible factors" must be included if statistics are to be reliable. These factors are remittances, investments, expenditures of tourists, shipping freight payments and money items strictly. Last year the exports proper were larger by $754,000,000 than the imports; yet, after taking the "invisible factors" into account, there was a debit against us of $586,000,000.
Mr. Hoover calls attention to the trend of international trade this year. He finds that we are actually importing more than we are exporting. Adding the invisible factors, the trade balance for this year is heavily against us.

That the balance of trade has been and is against us is a favorable sign. It signifies that we are investing capital at profit in other lands and that the interest will come to us for reinvestment. It signifies that other nations are making economic recovery and that their prices will rise. As these nations improve commercially and financially, they will buy from us, and international commerce will increase to our benefit.

It has not hurt this country to buy more extensively from Europe than it has sold to it. On the contrary, it has been distinctly beneficial. With the heavy indebtedness of Europe to the United States, it was impossible to expect it as a whole to buy more than it sold. That would have meant that the debtor continued piling up his debt and making ultimate payment all the more hopeless. The trade balance in favor of Europe has helped to restore its industry, without which Old world prosperity cannot be re-established. Inasmuch as a full recovery of American prosperity depends upon restored European prosperity, it will be seen that indirectly we are the beneficiaries of a condition that on its face is adverse.

PORTRAYING AMERICAN HISTORY
The principles, struggles and sacrifices on which the American system of liberty and government were founded never were so important to our happiness, or to our material progress and civic advancement, as they are today. In these times of complex social and economic problems, we are predisposed to treat the difficulties of the nation's beginnings as records of a small country, with a simple life, in applicable to the perplexing questions which now beset the country.

It is because we thoughtlessly overlook the significance of the issues which our forefathers settled that we need to study the men and events of early America. The United States which deserved to be free is the same United States, which now and hereafter must deserve to remain free by cherishing the Declaration of Independence, the constitution and the deeds of those who established representative government in America.

It is good news, therefore, that a large film company has been incorporated, sponsored by the American Patriotic League, to produce motion pictures portraying American history. The league consists of more than seven thousand jurists, publicists, college professors, teachers and business men. The pictures are to be exhibited in schools, colleges, churches, lodges and in other places where they will convey their lessons without competing with the regular picture houses.

If the people of this country knew more about its origin, together with the history surrounding its constitution and the significance of its guarantees, much of the discontent that is prevalent would disappear. There is not a better antidote for radicalism than a real knowledge of American institutions and what they mean to the individual.

TULSA AND THE KU KLUX KLAN
Dissension in the Chamber of Commerce in Tulsa, Okla., illustrates in a characteristic manner the troubles that befall every community in which the Ku Klux Klan gains headway. It forecasts on a small scale the discord which is growing in Indianapolis and, in fact, throughout practically the whole of Indiana.
Many Indiana cities have had far worse disturbances than Tulsa, but it has happened that there has been very little outside publicity to the quarrels. The principal reason that so little, comparatively, is known of the situation in Indianapolis and in most of Indiana is that many state, county and city officials are members of the invisible empire, which they are using, as some merchants do, for their own benefit.

Mr. H. Q. McClure, president of the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce, in denouncing the organization as "the worst blight in United States History," defended the good name of his city. The strife and lawbreaking have been caused, he said, by only four per cent of the citizens, probably less.

People living in other states and cities have no mistaken opinions of Oklahoma and Tulsa. Oklahoma is a progressive state of broadminded American inhabitants. Tulsa is a thriving city of energetic, democratic citizens. Oklahoma and Tulsa are lawabiding and respectable.

Mr. McClure's comments on the Ku Klux Klan and its methods should be circulated generally, not only to justify his city and state, but to show the conflict which is aroused wherever it gains a foothold. The Ku Klux Klan fills chambers of commerce with spite, it splits churches and lodges, it divides political parties, it breaks up families, it poisons civic spirit and destroys community enterprise.

As Mr. McClure said, the ninety-six per cent or more of the sane, liberal citizens pay little attention to an obstreperous minority. Nevertheless, as he points out, it is unsafe to ignore the invisible empire, and the dark campaign of hate, vindictiveness, suspicion and persecution which it secretly wages.
The Ku Klux Klan will blow up as like organizations have, but dissension and ill will are more easily prevented than cured.

RAISING THE EDUCATIONAL AVERAGE
According to Cora Wilson Stewart, chairman of the illiteracy commission of the National Education association, we have, in our country, ten million illiterates, persons who cannot read and write, and ten million near-illiterates, who are just able to scrawl a few words and spell out a few sentences. Our illiterates and near-illiterates number approximately twenty million.

Now, it is not worth while discussing whether the illiterates, their parents, or the public are to blame for this intellectual darkness. To try to place blame would be only agitating something which would do us no good. It suffices to know that there are twenty million persons who are handicapped by excessive ignorance.

The illiteracy commission is doing great service to the whole nation, as well as to the uneducated, in reducing the percentage of illiteracy. It is most important that our average intelligence should be high, that all of our people should be able to read and write. There are many geniuses, beyond doubt, among the illiterates, and we must consider the historical fact that advancement does not come from the top, but from the bottom.

TIC OR HABIT SPASM
In the presence of ladies or a clergyman the most profane man will talk for an indefinite time and never utter an oath, though in his ordinary conversation he swears like a trooper and quite unconsciously.
A tic is a little less than a spasm, a little more than a habit. The word tic comes from the French. We have no good English synonym. The movements of chorea (St. Vitus' dance) differs from those of tic in this respect, namely, that they cannot be controlled by the patient, whereas a tic can be controlled by an effort, just as a habit or swearing can. Take for example, a boy with a habit of coughing or shrugging one shoulder, sit before him with a pin and let him understand that every twitch will be punctured with one pin prick, and he will control that shoulder tic for a long time, though ordinarily it comes several times a minute. If it were chorea such punishment would only make the twitching worse.
A tic, unlike St. Vitus' dance, is usually limited to a single muscle or group of muscles. Here are some common tics: Blinking one or both eyes, winking or squinting; snuffling; clearing the throat; clucking or making other queer sounds with the lips or tongue; twitching one shoulder; whistling; nodding the head; uttering inopportune swear words or obscenities quite unintentionally. The movement of the muscle action occurs several times a minute as a rule, and the subject is unaware of it unless his attention is called to it.
Most tics have their origin in a natural impulse and become habits through undue nervousness. A boy or girl may develop a shoulder twitching tic as a result of a tight armhole, a tic of the face started by inflammation of the eyes or lids, a tic of the neck started by a tight or irritating collar. Spasmodic wry neck is closely allied with tic in nature and origin. Often it is started by a temporary "stiff neck" or "muscular rheumatism" so-called. This local irritation is the trigger which sets off the tic, the subject, of course, being loaded with a neuropathic tendency acquired by misfortune or inheritance. Thereafter the head will unconsciously twist to one side several times a minute unless restrained by an effort which soon causes great fatigue.
The treatment of tic must be by physical education. Educative exercises supervised by a competent physical director who has been trained in his work by years of schooling, such as the Y. M. C. A. school of physical training at Springfield gives. A few weeks of careful management of this sort will overcome most tics completely.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Ear Infections From Swimming.
Since you teach that there is no such thing as taking cold from exposure or from going in swimming, how do you account for the frequent ear troubles which occur in swimmers? In one case here this summer a boy who went in several times a day got ear inflammation and died as a result of it.—A. B. W.
Answer—Polluted water—water polluted either by sewage or by the excretions or discharges of swimmers—enters the nose and sometimes the Eustachian tubes, thus reaching the middle ear cavity where inflammation may be set up; or in some cases the water enters the middle ear cavity through a perforated drum. This is another reason why swimmers with perforation of the drum should insert in the ear canal a bit of lamb's wool before entering the water. Another reason they should do so is that cold water suddenly entering the ear cavity sometimes causes vertigo and loss of control—possibly a cause of sudden drownings of good swimmers, popularly ascribed to "cramps." Do not use absorbent cotton, but wool; if you have no wool, then use ordinary cotton batting which does not absorb water.
The Abode of Tuberculosis
Would it be safe to board at a home where a member of the family died last year with tuberculosis?—C. H.
Answer—The fact that one of the family died of tuberculosis has no bearing on the question. The only question is whether as a boarder you will come into intimate contact regularly with any one who has tuberculosis.

Alexander Campbell, 55, died on Sept. 20 at the home of his son near Stephentown.
So many of the soldiers collapsed after their arrival home that it was deemed advisable to open up several rooms for them in Prescott hospital.
William Ziehm's residence in the town of Dale was destroyed by lightning together with his barn and granary.
Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Harriman returned home from an extended trip through New England.

TEN YEARS AGO
Monday, September 22, 1913
Attorney John Martin of Green Bay was attending circuit court.
Henry A. Leuders of Dorchester was in Appleton on a several days visit.
A daughter was born the previous Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hortsworm, 775 Garfield street.
Bernard Hartung, Emory Greinke and James Donnelly left for Madison to enter the state university.
Attorney F. M. Wilcox, who was appointed a member of the Wisconsin industrial commission, was removing his household goods to Madison, where he was to make his home.
Loren McKinney, a graduate of Lawrence college with the class of 1913, left for Madison to enter the state university on a Lawrence scholarship.
Appleton was visited by an old fashioned snow storm the previous Saturday.
The palatial pleasure launch of William Gilbert of Neenah struck a submerged log in Wolf river and sank in several feet of water.
Mrs. Matthew Renn, 60, died at her home at 225 Fifth street after a long illness.
Hoffman Brothers, west side bakers, moved their new quarters at 945 College avenue.
Wilbur Schwandt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schwandt, fractured three ribs by a fall from a hickory tree.

THEN AND NOW
They used to say come seven, Baby needs shoes.
Now they say come seven, Papa needs booze.
What's become of the old fashioned boss who examined the fingers of prospective employees for nicotine stains? He now swats them with a paddle on the hip pocket. If he hits anything, he hires them.
Butchers are very truthful. The fault is all in the buyers who do not ask enough questions. When the man with the axe says they are spring chickens, ask him what spring he means.

Tips To Revenue Officers
How about these cases they open up nearly every day at the bar in the courthouse.
Thanks For The Tip
Dear Rolfe: I will tell you how to get out of that difficulty of reminding a woman that only one side of her face was rouged. Ask her if she isn't sick on one side of her face, since it looks so pale. That isn't saying anything about rouge.

Yours received and contents noted.
In reply beg to state we followed your advice, but with what success remains for you to judge. The lady blushed on one side of her face. One cheek glowed crimson, the other vermilion.
The chigger I figger.
Is bigger.
This year.

'T WAS ALL HER'
A fat girl, by name, Adeline.
Had a shape that was far from divine.
"I know it is bigger Than Kellerman's figger,"
She said, "But thank Heaven, it's mine."

Corroboration
Hank, we just knew Cy T. was right and it takes an old philosopher like yourself to confirm his assertions. We are all the more convinced ever since an Appleton automobilist ran into the ditch on the Mackville road this week because he had his eyes on a poster showing a high kicking girl in short skirts.

With all the people that don't believe in signs, folks still continue to put up "No Smoking" placards.
Yes, We Don't Know "America"
"America" has been left out of the song books to be used in the Chicago public schools. Probably "Bananas" is more American. Does anybody know if it has been substituted? They say it's a $60,000 tune, but all you can get out of "Star Spangled Banner" is a rise.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE WORLD
BY CHARLES P. STEWART
If every country had a national bird or animal, like the American eagle, the British lion and the Russian bear, the ox ought to be reserved for Argentina.
The ox is very, very strong—but slow, extremely slow.
Bulk and strength are Argentine characteristics, but shiftiness distinctly isn't.
The Universities Club, Buenos Aires, is the home of Argentine boxing. I've seen dozens of the republic's best men, including Firpo, in action there and they're all more or less alike—plenty of power, but no speed. Let one of them land and down goes whatever he landed on. But he can't follow up an advantage. It isn't lack of science. It's inability to think and act quickly.
Unless Firpo is different from nearly all his countrymen this is a thing he never can learn.

WETS AND DRY
Attorney General Daugherty, reporting on three years of prohibition, calls it "one of the most tragic epochs in American history relative to law enforcement"—"a sordid story of assassination, bribery and corruption" involving "the very sanctums wherein the inviolability of the law was presumed to be sacred."
However, the report concludes that the attorney general is "highly satisfied."

TROUBLE IN SPAIN
The Catalan provinces, in the country's northeast corner, are Spain's great industrial region. Being the big producers, the Catalans pay a large share of the taxes. They say the government wastes them, mainly on a needlessly long-drawn-out war in Morocco.
Finally they've balked on keeping this up. In doing so they invite other big taxpaying districts to join in their revolt. The Basque provinces, in the central north, where the mining is done, and Galicia, in the northeast, accepted.
It was so serious that Premier Alaluze's cabinet had to quit. What's described as a "military directorate," headed by Primo Rivera, captain-general of Catalonia, has taken the cabinet's place.
Virtually it's something like a Fascist movement, but there are many "reds" among the Catalans and Basques and it may take a communistic turn yet. It amounts to a near-revolution already and threatens to become a real one.

ITAL RATHER MILD
Italy, which seemed bent on war in the Balkans, has modified her tone a little.
Premier Mussolini agrees to release the Greek Islands he grabbed on September 27. And he's made a new offer to Yugoslavia concerning control of the disputed city of Fiume. Yugoslavia meant to fight before accepting his first proposition. She's considering the new one.
There may yet be trouble, but it's been delayed anyway.
Yugoslavia (Greater Serbia) has sent a threatening note to Bulgaria, owing to the presence of bands of Bulgarian irregular troops on her frontier. Another danger!

GERMANY AND FRANCE
Chancellor Stresemann admits Germany's lost her "passive resistance" fight in the Ruhr. He says he's willing to mortgage German private industry, commerce, finance and agriculture to France to secure payment of war damages.
Negotiations haven't progressed far enough yet to judge how they're likely to end.
The trouble is, Germany is trying to negotiate and France is demanding surrender.

Here's a box of Fall Underwear---and your name is on the cover!
It's your weight in warmth---your length in legs---your kind of sleeves and below the neck there is room for your chest.
In fact, it's so like you that were your Mother or Wife to hold up one of these garments unfolded, she would exclaim---"Why, that is John's size exactly."
Your price too---for we figure you are a reasonable man and these prices are reasonable.
Come in and toast your shins!

The Question Box
(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent, Information Bureau, Frederick J. Hoskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)
Q. Are freckles hereditary? A. H. J.
A. Authorities say that freckles are sometimes hereditary, appearing soon after birth and continuing through life, or subsiding or vanishing altogether.
Q. How far south are the Northern Lights seen? B. F. B.
A. The Aurora Borealis is sometimes seen as far south as 20 degrees north latitude, though at very infrequent intervals.
Q. Has New York or Chicago more land in parks? J. L. H.
A. The total area of parks in Chicago is 820,404 acres. The total area of parks in New York City is 8,196 acres.
Q. From what country do we get our coffee? B. E. G.
A. Brazil furnishes over half of the world's supply of coffee. Nearly three-fourths of this amount is consumed in the United States.
Q. What is the meaning of the letters I. N. R. I.? H. L. H.
A. The Latin Inscription placed over the head of Christ on the cross by Pilate was: "Jesu Nazarenus Rex Judaeorum" meaning Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews.
Q. How can one find the percentage of baseball games won and lost? C. R.
A. To determine the percentage of games won and lost, divide the total number of games won and lost into the number won.
Q. Is there a copy of the 1623 Folio edition of Shakespeare's works in Washington? D. A.
A. Such a book is exhibited in the Library of Congress.
Q. Were southern slave owners allowed to free their slaves without assuming any responsibility for them? W. W. C.
A. Many of the southern states placed restrictions on the manumission of slaves which by 1860 had increased the number of free negroes to one-sixteenth of the total number. One restriction practically common to all States was that the master must give bond that the freed slave should not become a public charge. A second restriction very common obliged the master to remove the freed slave from the commonwealth in which he was freed. Liberia was acquired by the American Colonization Society for the purpose of providing a settlement of manumitted slaves. The first colony was sent out on "The Elizabeth" in 1821. During the next twenty-five years 4,500 freed slaves were sent out.
Q. Does the mocking bird migrate, or why does its singing cease about the middle of the summer? B. W. M.
A. The Department of Agriculture says that the mocking bird as a rule is not migratory. It is true that only the male is a singer, and perhaps the reason he ceases his singing is because of the moulting season which begins the middle of the summer. The birds usually live to be about eight years of age.
Q. How long has the Roosevelt family been in this country? A. J. G.
A. They are descendants of Klues Martensen Roosevelt, who emigrated from Holland in 1614.

THE TRUTH AS HE SEES IT
Chicago—"Write the truth as you see it," insisted Mrs. Thomas Temple Hoyne to her husband.
"I would be a perfect ass to do that," he replied.
"Well, most men are asses," said she, "and you need not feel any great shame in admitting that you are one."
And so he wrote "Myself and Fellow Asses," a new book that has made an instant hit and within two weeks of its publication, even before there has been time to distribute it widely, has gone into a second edition.
But now Mrs. Hoyne is not satisfied. She insists that in a chapter which she was not allowed to see, entitled "The Ladies, Doggone 'Em," her husband has spoken unjustly of the fair sex.
"There never was a woman in the world," she says, "who was not naturally loyal and honest and sincere. When you see one that is otherwise, you can always find the cause in some man who has deceived her. I do not care what my husband says about women, or what anyone else says, either. For most of the success men achieve in this world women are responsible, and for the presence of a good many men in heaven instead of in the other place they are responsible too."

Depere Buys 75 Seats For Concert Here

The seat sale for the concert to be given Thursday evening in Lawrence Memorial chapel by the Eight Victor Artists which opened Saturday is proving the popularity of the artists with Appleton friends. As Appleton is the only Wisconsin city in which the troupe will appear a number of persons from out-of-town have requested Wm. H. Nolan to reserve blocks of seats for their parties. Seventy-five persons from Depere will attend the concert and other large groups from Oshkosh and Green Bay have sent for seat reservations. Philip W. Simon of New York city, director of the management has chosen Appleton as the city in which he will be present at the performance.

It is probable it will be the last time Appleton persons will have the opportunity of hearing the eight artists for two of the number after this year may discontinue making concert tours. Before reaching Appleton the group will appear in Cincinnati and Cleveland, Ohio. The trip will include the presentation of only six concerts before the artists return to their work in the recording laboratories of the Victor Talking Machine Co. where the most of their time is spent.

Mr. Nolan is making arrangements for a reception to be given the artists following the program in the chapel. Many persons who have expressed a desire to meet the members of the party personally will thus be given an opportunity of talking with them.

PARTIES

Members of TaTaPochin Camp Fire had a surprise party on Saturday at Appleton Women's club house for Miss Florence Beaman, who formerly was their guardian. Miss Beaman has gone to Chicago where she will study at the Chicago Recreational Training school.

The party, which was the first supper to be served in the clubhouse, was an old fashioned Saturday night frolic. The girls came in old fashioned costumes, played old fashioned games and served the typical supper of the times. It took considerable planning and ingenuity to get the supper and serve it hot in a clubhouse where no stove has been installed as yet. By means of bringing the things "red hot" and of attaching an electric coffee urn; it was possible, however.

Beta Sigma Phi fraternity entertained at a rushing party Sunday evening in Alicia park. The party was principally in a steak fry although various forms of entertainment were planned.

Local Dancing Boys will give a dance Friday evening Oct. 5 at Armory G. It will be the first of a series of dances.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gehl were surprised Sunday evening at their home, 422 Second-ave., anniversary. A 6 o'clock dinner was served to 35 relatives.

A farewell party was given Sunday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Norman Scherke at the home of Mrs. Scherke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Scherke, 636 Second-ave. Mr. and Mrs. Scherke will leave Tuesday for their home in San Antonio, Texas. Thirty guests were present at 6 o'clock dinner.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Mrs. F. L. Schrockenberg will be hostess at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening to the Women's Missionary society of Trinity English Lutheran church at her home, 570 College-ave. Delegates to the Wisconsin conference of the Missionary society to be held in Milwaukee Oct. 2, 3 and 4 will be appointed.

The thank offering of the Women's Missionary society of the Congregational church will be held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of the church. A special program will open at 2.30.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Stevens Schumacher, 518 State-st., to Martin Van Roy of Buchanan, took place at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The ceremony was performed in St. Joseph church by the Rev. Basil Gummerman. Miss Lillian Smith and Edmond Schumacher were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Van Roy will make their home on a farm near the town of Buchanan.

Word has been received by Mrs. Amelia Die, 697 Rankin-st., of the marriage of her sister, Miss Ethel Luckow of Appleton, to Clarence Schreiber of Menasha. The ceremony took place Sept. 19 at Waukegan, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber will make their home in Milwaukee.

WHAT IS GOING ON TODAY?

4:15—American Association of University Women. Playhouse of Appleton Women's club.

7:30—Clio club. Mrs. Frank Harrieman, 626 Rankin-st. Mrs. J. H. Parley has the program.

6:30—Y. M. C. A. Auto Membership drive supper, banquet hall of Y. M. C. A.

7:30—Clubs and classes of Appleton Women's club open. Appleton Women's club house.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

License to marry has been applied for in the office of the county clerk by Henry J. Derfas and Anna Meyerhofer, both of Kaukauna.

State Leader Of C. O. F. Is Visiting Courts

By Thursday evening, Louis F. Nys, state organizer for the Catholic Order of Foresters, will have visited each of the 11 courts in the special district membership campaign. These visits are the first which the campaign has necessitated, but Mr. Nys will cooperate with the courts throughout their membership drives and will probably visit them again before the campaign is completed.

C. O. F. Courts Of Valley Meet In Little Chute

The Fox River Valley Catholic Order of Foresters association will have its semi-annual meeting at Little Chute on Sunday afternoon. Representatives from the 32 courts from Fond du Lac to Green Bay will be present. John Morgan of Appleton is president of the association.

Three important matters of business will be discussed and arranged for at the meeting. An education program for the fall and winter with an able list of speakers will be provided according to the wishes of the courts. The general membership drive will be taken up and arrangements for the bowling leagues of the courts will be made.

Womans Home Mission Club Meets Tuesday

The annual meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society of Appleton district of the Methodist church will open at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the social rooms of First Methodist church. Short talks and musical numbers will be given and a discussion of the work of the district will take place.

A banquet will be served at 6:30 in the church to which members of the church and the delegates are invited.

The evening session will open at 7:30 and Dr. A. W. Newhall will tell of his work at a mission school in Alaska.

The condition of Henry Rothe, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rothe, 684 Richmond-st., who was struck by an automobile at Richmond Saturday morning and suffered a broken leg by the accident, has improved to such an extent that he will be removed from St. Elizabeth hospital to his home in a few days. The driver of the automobile was the Rev. Mr. DeBrael of Menasha. The parents were not certain of the initials. Mr. DeBrael is the new Methodist minister in Menasha.

Mrs. J. Zeh and mother, Mrs. M. Cloos, are visiting friends and relatives in Milwaukee.

Womans Club Begins Year Work Today

Clubs and classes of Appleton Women's club will begin their work today Monday evening, each with a meeting of its own so that several activities may be conducted at the same hour. Although the new clubhouse and the Playhouse have not been put in complete order for meetings, the two buildings are being used officially beginning Monday evening.

The bowling leagues will meet at 7 o'clock in the Playhouse rather than at the Arcade alleys, where the bowling will take place. Many details of organization must be looked after before the actual bowling begins. At the same hour the aesthetic dancing class will be in the clubhouse and the glee club will meet in the clubhouse at 7:30 with Mrs. Marie Boehm as director.

Chirele club which has been meeting during the summer on Tuesday evenings will meet at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the Playhouse. Some new members have been added to the club through registration for the year. The competition between teams which managed the membership campaign will close on Monday evening, but any girls and women in Appleton who wish to join the recreation department activities and who have not been asked by any of the teams to do so may register at once.

Both strenuous and moderate gymnasium will take place at the high school on Tuesday evening, the strenuous being scheduled at 7 and the moderate at 8 o'clock. Dramatic workshop will meet in the clubhouse from 7 to 9 o'clock and arts and crafts class will meet in the same place at 7.

Those of the recreation department who have not yet visited the club in its new quarters at the corner of Harris and Onondaga streets will be pleasantly surprised at the ease with which all the activities can be handled because of the increased space. With the two buildings available at all times for the club activities, it is expected that a great many more things will take place there during the coming year which were not possible in the former location.

PICNICS

Members of the young married peoples groups of the Methodist and Congregational churches will have a picnic at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Wettengel on Wednesday evening. The informal program of the afternoon will begin at 3 o'clock. After the cafeteria supper which will be served at 6 o'clock, a joint meeting of the two organizations will take place.

LODGE NEWS

A 6:30 supper for Eastern Star will be held Wednesday evening in Masonic hall. A class of candidates will be initiated at the meeting which will follow.

Appleton chapter of the Masonic order will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening in Masonic hall. Mark master degree will be conferred.

Leon Wolf was a Stephenville visitor on Sunday.

SALESMAN ADMITS HE HAS WIFE HERE AND IN CHICAGO

Hugo A. Cordt Arrested When He Fails To Support Chicago Family

sending home money regularly. When I first married Mrs. Schantz I was getting only $150 a month. But my income increased so that I was able to send home as much as $75 a month."

SENT LESS MONEY
Cordt drew out of an inner coat pocket a pack of money order receipts to prove his statement about the contributions to his Chicago family.

Of late his contributions had been diminishing, and it was this that induced the first Mrs. Cordt to have her husband arrested. It was only during the last three months that Mr. Cordt had been contributing substantially to the support of his Appleton wife and her three children.

Cordt met Mrs. Schantz in Milwaukee about two years ago. He became infatuated with her, and together they slipped away to Escanaba to be married there without their actions receiving much publicity.

The confessed bigamist is awaiting his disposal with unforgotten anxiety. He is pacing the cell and smoking numerous cigarettes in his nervousness.

"I don't care about myself. I don't deserve anything but the bars," he told a reporter. "It is the children that I'm worrying about. What will happen to them?"

"They all think a great deal of their father. They have been writing regularly to me. Here's a card I am carrying in my pocket. It was sent to me by Evelyn, the second oldest child, on Father's day."

"If they will only give me a chance, I will make good. So long as the kids don't have to suffer."

DALE MAN, STEPPING OUT OF CAR, HIT BY AUTOIST
Art Hopkins was injured about 7 o'clock Saturday evening when he was struck by a car driven by John Kaufman of Dale in front of the home of his brother, Guy Hopkins, at Medina. Mr. Hopkins who had driven to his brother's home with his son George had stepped from the car and was going behind it when Mr. Kaufman whose lights suddenly went out was unable to avoid hitting him with a fender of the car. In addition to a broken ankle Mr. Hopkins head was badly cut. He was taken to his home in Dale by Mr. Kaufman.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS HEAD RACE PROBLEM TALK
Democracy classes of Appleton high school were given a talk on Monday on the race problem by Miss Mary Cuthbert, who is a missionary in the south for the Congregational church and who spoke at the Congregational church on Sunday. Both Leon C. High and C. Willard Cross have their democracy classes during the third, fourth and fifth periods. In order that Miss Cuthbert could talk to all the students, the classes were combined on Monday.

KROMER'S COMERS PLAY GOOD GAME BUT LOSE, 11-0

Amateurs Show Up Well In First Game With Faster
Company

Kaukauna—Kromer's Comers of the Wisconsin Home Players league were defeated by Oshkosh Sunday afternoon on the local grounds by a score of 11 to 0. Stormy's method of change line players about every two innings gave the Indians their chance and they scored easily every time a new pitcher went into the box. In the first few innings the Comers hit a lineup that would have put up a good fight for after the first inning when Oshkosh scored five runs on four hits, the boys nervousness left them and they settled down to good baseball. Gertz who occupied the mound for four innings allowed only one hit after that first run.

The youngsters picked Fred Beebe's delivery for eight safeties and probably could have scored had they not, in their eagerness, pulled "boners" each time. The first chance was in the fifth frame when Ashauer, his first trip to the plate, selected the apple through second base for a clean single. He stole second and when Webb missed the ball went to third. Bixby in center also fumbled the ball and Ashauer started for the plate. He would easily have beat the throw in but within 15 feet of the rubber he turned abruptly on his heels and attempted to regain third base. Had his coach played the runner safe, Kaukauna would have been saved from a whitewash, since the two following hitters singled.

Another chance came in the sixth when J. Phillips singled but was caught on his attempt to steal. John son was safe on Meyer's error at short and Macrorie singled. In the general excitement Johnson went to third while Macrorie galloped half way to third before he realized the bag was occupied. The visitors managed to retire Johnson.

Ashauer garnered two hits in three chances and Kilgas singled twice in four trips. On his first chance, Kilgas was robbed of a hit when he knocked a hot one to third base and would have been the throw when Keating muscled up the hit but fell down ten feet from the bag.

J. Phillips singled once and walked once in four times at bat and Macrorie and Gertz were credited with singles. John Zink, pinch hitting for LeMair, also hit safely in the seventh inning. The Oshkosh tribe gathered 13 blows, two of them doubles by Keating and Boettge. The latter was given four hits in six trips to the rubber. Keating made three hits.

The Comers pulled a brilliant play in the ninth when Erditz garnered his first hit. The fielder on returning the ball threw high to second base. It looked as though the ball was headed for the grand stand but J. Phillips ran in from his position at short, grabbed the apple on a jump and shot it to first in time to catch Erditz who had made a start for second before he noticed the play.

Kaukauna batteries were Cooper, Engerson, H. Stegeman and Kilgas. Catch: Gertz. LeMair, Walton and R. Stegeman. Pitch: "Boll" Durham caught for Fred Beebe. The big sweater allowed only one hit and whiffed once.

WEDDINGS AMONG COUNTY'S PEOPLE

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Onida—Anton Wyden of Little Chute, and Miss Mary VandenHogen of Onida, are to be married Oct. 2. They had their first call Sunday at St. Joseph church.

Mrs. and Mr. Henry Schuman and Esther Schroeder were Appleton visitors Saturday.

CALL MEETING OF SINGERS TO FORM CHORAL SOCIETY

Community Organization Will Be Outgrowth Of Homecoming Celebration

Kaukauna—The organization which probably will provide next year's community celebration to take the place of the 1923 percent and homecoming will be started at a meeting of all people who are interested in the celebration on Wednesday evening at the auditorium. A choral society of as many voices as can be gathered from the city's talent will be formed at the meeting and arrangements will be made for regular meetings nights. It is probable officers will be elected.

At a meeting of the pageant committee and citizens a few weeks ago, it was thought that a venture in the future line would be appropriate for next year. The executive committee of the pageant was left in charge of affairs. The Rev. H. A. Halinde, of St. Mary church, was chosen to lead and direct the musical attempts of the new club.

Besides organizing with a view of furnishing something for next summer, it was considered a good plan to prepare or periodical entertainments throughout the winter to arouse interest and to keep the members of the society interested in the venture. Father Halinde expects to present a Christmas program. The thought was expressed that an outdoor community Christmas tree such as the city had several years ago, would form the nucleus for the festive event.

The meeting Wednesday at the auditorium is scheduled for not later than 7:30. All people who are able to hum a tune are expected. Father Halinde said. The organization probably will begin its efforts with general singing.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS

Kaukauna—Mr. and Mrs. Peter Van Dyke and family returned Monday evening from a weekend trip to Milwaukee.

Miss Jimmie Bell, city industrial nurse and Mrs. James O'Connell, municipal nurse, will leave Tuesday to attend the state convention for nurses at LaCrosse. They will be gone until Saturday evening.

Claude Smith and William Doloven returned Sunday night from Chicago after moving the household furniture of Martin Jaacks.

Thrown From Car
Kaukauna—Mrs. Charles Dreger was thrown from the car in which she was riding with her husband and their family on Little Chicago road Saturday evening when the automobile was struck by another car. No one was seriously injured.

WANT MAIL CARRIER
Kaukauna—Notice has been posted in the postoffice by A. R. Mill, postmaster, that there is a position open for a mail messenger to haul mail from the train to the office. Application blanks will be given out in the office to those interested. August Carnot, mail messenger, has offered his resignation.

WOMAN, HELD FOR DEATH HYSTERICAL

Elkorn Woman Is To Be Charged With Murder Of Her Husband

Elkorn—Mrs. Myrtle Schaudt, widow of Whitewater, who, according to the sheriff of Walworth county, confessed on Saturday to the murder of her husband in March, 1921, and of having administered poison candy to her four children on Friday, will be arraigned in court, probably on Monday. She is held in the county jail.

District Attorney Alfred L. Godfrey, who, with Sheriff H. E. Wolfe, arraigned Mrs. Schaudt after the arrest Saturday night, declined to say Sunday night on what charges he would bring her into court.

"I will swear out a warrant based on facts as I have them," was all that Mr. Godfrey would say Saturday night.

"Mrs. Schaudt admitted the killing as well as giving poisoned candy to her children," the district attorney said.

Mrs. Schaudt was hospitalized on Sunday, according to Sheriff Wolfe, after admitting the charges, the sheriff said. Mrs. Schaudt failed to give reasons for her actions. Both officers were unable to account for a motive, they said.

Mrs. Schaudt, who is 35 years old, has long been a resident of Whitewater. Since her husband's death she has been prominent in church and social circles.

Mrs. Schaudt has been conducting a boarding house in Whitewater since the death of Mr. Schaudt.

WHELOCK PLEADS WITH U. S. FOR PAY FOR MIXED INDIANS

Oneida Attorney Presents His Case In Washington For Menominees

Special to Post-Crescent
Oneida—Dannison Wheelock, the noted Oneida Indian lawyer, leaves this week for Washington, D. C., to commence an action in the supreme court for and in behalf of a large number of Menominee mixed blood Indians residing in Wisconsin and Michigan who have been denied tribal rights by the secretary of the interior.

It is stated that since 1905 the Menominee Indians have received in per capita payments a total aggregate sum of more than $1,500 each which the mixed bloods are seeking to have paid to them also by reason of ownership of the land from which the United States government is selling logs and timber.

It is said that not more than 50 full bloods are living. The rest of the tribe are of mixed blood.

Mark Powlas while driving his automobile into a car in Green Bay and paid damages to the amount of $17.

Dr. N. Kersten of DePere purchased a house from Andrew Steinfeldt and will have it moved about one half mile to a farm he bought in the town of Hobart.

George Vissers, patrolman on the Seymour rd., bought a percheron mare from J. W. Corns.

Mrs. Lydia Skenadore Moore received a notice from Sheriff Otto Zuehlke Friday that her husband, Austin Moore, has filed papers for a divorce.

John Coonen has been helpless in bed for a month with rheumatism.

STUDY FOR PRIESTHOOD
Charles Hill, an Onida Indian, son of Dr. Rose Hill and Martin Janz, son of Bart Janz, have entered St. Norbert college, DePere, to study for the priesthood.

A literary society has been organized in district No. 4 school, where Miss Catherine Bougie of Lawrence is teacher. The president is Peter Powlas, vice president, Alma Cornelius, secretary, Audrey Smith; committee on programs, Loretta Cornelius and Raymond Parkhurst. They will have their meetings every two weeks on Friday afternoon.

WIFE SUICIDES WHILE HUSBAND IS IN CHURCH

By Associated Press
Marquette—Brooding over the recent marriage of her only son, Charles, Mrs. Fred Kaufman, Menominee, Mich., hanged herself on Sunday.

Family members, worried over Mrs. Kaufman's condition, agreed on Saturday to take her to a Milwaukee sanitarium. She has been mentally ill for the last two years.

When Mr. Kaufman and a daughter returned from church Sunday morning, they found Mrs. Kaufman's body suspended from a rafter in the woodshed. The woman appeared to have been dead at least an hour.

Perhaps This Sheriff Will Get A Tiger

Special to Post-Crescent
Weyauwega—An enterprising New Yorker some time ago chained a young tiger to the wheel of his auto to watch the car. Can you blame him?

Sheriff Swenson wishes he had a tiger, for if he had one, perhaps he would be ahead now.

One case of whiskey, confiscated property.

One fur coat, purchased last year.

One auto robe, which recently made him $12 poorer.

One battery, without which his car isn't of much use.

One spare, tire just recently acquired.

As the story is told, the Waupaca county sheriff had just returned from a bootlegging raid, and had parked his car in front of the jail, about to carry in evidence, confiscated at a nearby farm in the absence of the alleged manufacturer of illicit liquor.

When he returned from his office to the car a minute or two later, he found the above mentioned items "confiscated" or annexed.

What peevish Sheriff Swenson the most, however, is that he had the goods on one of his constituents.

RAISE SWEET POTATOES ON CLINTONVILLE FARM

Clintonville—Can sweet potatoes be successfully raised in this latitude? Charles Buelow, a farmer in the town of Matteson, has demonstrated that they can. Mr. Buelow has some light soil on his farm and concluded that it was suitable to the growth of the suc-culent yam if the season would only permit the maturing of this southern plant. He determined to try the ex-periment and accordingly secured some plants from Arkansas, which he set out as early in the season as it was safe to do so on account of the possi-bility of late frosts. His small experi-ment turned out very satisfactory and his little patch yielded a fine crop of well matured specimens.

John Ryan, Jr., and Alban Roemer have gone to Missoula, Mont., where they will take a course in forestry.

ACE SAYS ARCTIC WASTES ARE GOOD FLYING TERRAIN

By Associated Press
Bergen—Giving his opinion regard-ing the Arctic as a flying terrain, Lieutenant Dietrichsen is quoted as follows by the Aftenposten:
"Once one has risen above the mountains, the mists vanish and weather conditions become extraor-dinarily even and free of wind pec-kets. The further north one pro-ceeds the better become the possibi-lities of good and safe landing places among the vast flat tracts of ice and snowfields."
The lieutenant also expressed his firm conviction that the Polar flight was only a matter of time.
Lieutenant Dietrichsen is one of the airmen sent up to Spitzbergen by the Norwegian government in con-nection with relief measures for Amundsen.

CORBETT, IHDE TO HELP PREPARE FARM CONFERENCE

Invited To Milwaukee Sept. 28
—State Meeting To Be Held In December

Hugh G. Corbett has been invited to represent the Wisconsin Association of Commercial Secretaries at a meeting of the farmer-business man conference program committee of the state at Hotel Pilsner, Milwaukee, Friday, Sept. 28. Mr. Corbett is president of the secretarial association.

Herman Ihde of Neenah, who was appointed as a farmer member of the committee, also plans to attend.

The committee was appointed at the statewide farmers' and business men's conference in Milwaukee last July to formulate a program for a later gathering. The July meeting was the start of a movement to get the farmers and business men together to discuss their problems mutually, and is being carried out in Outagamie county through a series of gatherings.

It is possible that the next state conference will be held in Milwaukee from Dec. 1 to 3, when the Wisconsin Products exposition is in progress. The mornings of the conference usually are inactive, and it is believed they would serve as an ideal time for setting up the program. Many farmers, manufacturers, merchants and business men will be in Milwaukee at that time, assuring a large attendance at these side programs.

BERESFORD BOOK LEADS DEMAND HERE

"The Prisoners Of Hartling" Is Interesting Story Of England

"The Prisoners of Hartling" by J. D. Beresford was one of the best circulators last week at Appleton public library. It is the story of Hartling, a beautiful country estate where strong-willed old Garvice Kenyon holds in spiritual subjection his household of eight assorted relatives—sisters, nieces and cousins. All are bound to the place because of the power of the one personality.

The action of the story is the unexpected result of the visit of Hartling to another cousin, young Dr. Woodroffe. Old Kenyon's efforts to add him to the collection of prisoners, imprisoned solely by their lack of initiative and their hope of a legacy, proves very interesting. How Woodroffe meets the temptation to stay and how Eleanor influences the outcome makes a story full of tense situations, handled with Mr. Beresford's unflinching artistic competence.

The other fiction numbers which were the best circulators last week were "The Covered Wagon," by Hough and "Vandemark's Folly," by Quick. Both have been among the most popular numbers for several weeks. The first may be seen in moving pictures and the second ran serially before it was printed in book form. "Damaged Souls" by Bradford and "Life and Letters of Walter Page" by Hendricks were the non-fiction books in greatest demand. The fact that they have been widely read and remain in as great demand as ever proves their worthy qualities.

Refill Silos
Many farmers have refilled their silos this fall for the first time. The first filling usually settles from ten to fifteen feet which made it possible for most of the owners of silos to salvage the corn that was damaged by frost.

Remove Old Trees
Five shade trees on the east side of the former Belmar hotel at the corner of College and State, which has been leased by Schlitz Brothers, were cut down and removed Friday. In the days of the hotel, they furnished shade for the guests, but late years they darkened the building and their usefulness disappeared.

Home Uses For Concrete.

This homemade stone is a handy material to use about the place in the odd jobs of building and repair.

If the mortar is falling out from between the bricks of your house, giving it a ragged and run-down appearance, repair it with concrete. If there is mud in the driveway to your garage, make a concrete path. Put a permanent floor in your basement, permanent posts at your gate. Y. M. C. A. Has Placed 650 Men In Positions In Last Sixteen Months

Free Employment Bureau At Appleton Institution Has Performed Creditable Service

During the 16 months of its active existence, the employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. has received applications for jobs and positions from 852 men and boys. The bureau has sent these men to 1133 openings and returned cards show that 650 of the applicants have obtained work. C. L. Boynton has charge of the filling of applications and placing of men in positions.

This employment service which the Y. M. C. A. offers to Appleton workers and to Appleton employers is one of the big talking points for the auto membership race which opens on Monday. The service is not a hit and miss affair where any man is sent to any job, but a thoughtful attempt to get a man who is suitable for the job that is suitable for the man. In cases where the man is negotiating for a position of trust, references are required and if the employer wishes, these references are looked up by the employment agency.

BUSIEST IN MAY
May is the biggest month of the year for seeking jobs because that is the time of the year when much outside work begins to open up, but September and October are also busy months because in the fall the men who have been working outside look for inside work. The greatest number of applicants are those who claim that they can do any kind of work but whose applications show that they have had little or no training in any kind of trade. These men are usually willing to take any job that will give them a living wage.

In May there are many jobs to offer for the common laborer but in September work becomes very scarce. At a time when there are few jobs, members of the Y. M. C. A. are given first chance for an opening, then Appleton men who are not members and finally the casual applicant. The charge of a 50-cent registration fee which is refunded when the applicant notifies the agency that he has a job has done a great deal to eliminate those who do not want work but who take up time.

HAS OFFICE HOURS
When the work of the employment department was taken up by Mr. Boynton, he found that unless it was limited to certain hours during the day it took up too much time. Office hours for employment work have since been obtained from 9 to 10 in the morning, from 11 to 12:30, from 5 to 6, every day and from 7 to 8 on Monday and Wednesday evenings. One of the biggest difficulties in handling the work before registration fee was charged was that of knowing whether the man had taken work or was still available. Considerable time was wasted in fruitless telephoning, but now when the fee is refunded when the application is withdrawn, few fail to report back.

Besides the regular employment, the department finds part-time work for college boys and after school work for high school boys. Jobs for part or half time vocational students are also found. One of its most unusual features is the finding of custodians for paroled prisoners.

Some men who are working at jobs which are not congenial also apply at the Y. M. C. A. in the hope that something more satisfactory can be located. Sometimes these men are highly trained in a trade or profession in which there is no opening and they take other jobs temporarily until something more suitable can be found.

Mr. Boynton is able to save time for both the employer and the man seeking work. He has a wide knowledge of what the jobs require and therefore does not send a man to apply unless he is fairly certain that he will be satisfactory. The employer then does not have to interview the large number of applicants who would come in answer to advertisements.

SWEETIE RECORD SETS PACE HERE

"No, No, Nora" Expected To Be Headliner In Record Sales

"My Sweetie Went Away" was the big seller in phonograph records again last week, according to the local dealers. "Cut Yourself a Piece of Cake" is a comparatively new selection which was a close second in sales. Other numbers which were good were "Drifting Back to Dreamland," "Marcheta," and "I Never Miss the Sunshine."

"No, No, Nora" is a new piece which promises to be another "hit" according to dealers. "Maggie" and "Indiana Moon" are two other selections which for their newness have been enjoying much popularity.

The five best sellers in each make of record last week were the following:

Victor: Maggie, Indiana Moon, Dream of India, Papa Better Watch Your Step, Etude in G sharp minor.

Columbia: My Sweetie Went Away, Cut Yourself a Piece of Cake, First, Last and Always, Oh Sister, Ain't That Hot, Kerry Dance (Mackenzie).

Brunswick: No, No, Nora, Cut Yourself a Piece of Cake, Ducks Quack,

FOUR SELECTIONS 'EQUALLY POPULAR'

"No, No, Nora," "My Sweetie Went Away," "Indiana Moon," "Dreamy Melody," and "Annabelle" all struggled last week for first place as the most popular pieces of sheet music.

It is rather unusual to have so many selections popular, but, according to the dealers each one was called for many times. "No, No, Nora" is a new piece which the dealers say will be one in biggest demand before long. "Maggie" also is new and "Annabelle" has not been a record seller for very long. "My Sweetie Went Away" still is popular in sheet music and "Drifting Back to Dreamland" has

My Sweetie Went Away, Midsummer Nights Dream (Capital Grand orchestra).

Victor: No, No, Nora, Indiana Moon, Maggie, Yes Mam, I'm Drifting Back to Dreamland, Gems from Aida.

nearly as many sales in a week as it ever had.

The five best sellers last week in sheet music were:

Wm. H. Nolan—Indiana Moon, No, No, Nora, That Old Gang of Mine, Dreamy Melody, Annabelle.

Meyer-Seeger—Indiana Moon, House of David Blues, Foolish Child, Marcheta, Exit Your Sugar.

Irving Zuehlke—No, No, Nora, Drifting Back to Dreamland, My Sweetie Went Away, Annabelle, Mag-

Miss S. E. Anderson—Bad News Blues, Too Many Sweethearts, Louisiana, Dreamy Melody, Fickianinny Lullaby.

Between 15 and 20 boys of the Y. M. C. A., accompanied by J. E. Dennison, boys secretary went to Lake Winnebago Saturday afternoon on a nature study trip. They took their supper with them and returned about 6 o'clock.

Local express employees whose wages were reduced some time ago have just been notified of an increase which amounts to about one-third of the cut. The increase does not affect the agents whose salaries will be readjusted later.

Unless we first ascertain the facts in connection with it. Why are rates so much higher than before the war? Is it because of the passage of the Esch-Cummins law, or the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission allowing exorbitant returns to the owners of the railroads? To answer this question we must ascertain what the returns have been since the passage of the Esch-Cummins law. According to the reports to the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1920 the net operating income was eight tenths of one percent upon the $18,800,000, the value of the roads as fixed by the commission. In 1921, it was three and a fraction per cent and in 1922, it was four and a fraction per cent so it cannot be said that the owners of railroads have been receiving excessive returns from existing freight and passenger rates.

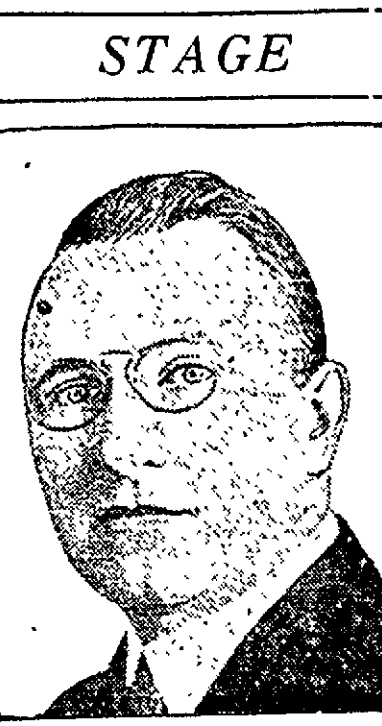

"Why then are rates so much higher than before the war? It is due to just one cause, and that is increase of operating expenses and the greatest increase has been in labor cost. According to the report of the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1915, there were 1,320,000 tons of freight and 1,040,000 passengers carried for which the railroad employees received the sum of $1,351,324.00. In 1921 there were 1,515,555 tons of freight and 1,000,000 passengers carried for which they received $2,765,236.00. In other words, for carrying 350,000 tons more freight and fifty million fewer passengers in 1921 than in 1915, the railroad employees received in 1921 $1,413,912.00 more compensation than in 1915. Or if we go back to 1917, instead of 1915, we find in that year the railroads carried 1,353,000 tons of freight and 1,110,000 passengers for which railroad employees received in wages $1,783,214.00 while in 1917 as stated before the railroads carried 1,015,555 tons of freight and 1,000,000 passengers, for which there was paid railroad employees as compensation $2,765,236.00. In other words, for carrying 350,000 tons less freight and fifty million fewer passengers in 1921 than in 1917, the railroad employees received in 1921 $882,000.00 more compensation than in 1917. So here is an increase of about a billion dollars a year compared with 1917 and $1,230,000.00 a year compared with 1915. In 1913 the railroads paid for fuel $249,000.00. In 1917, $400,000.00 and in 1921 $536,000.00, an increase of $286,000.00 over 1913 and $135,000.00 over 1917 and this increase is due very largely to wages paid in the mines."

"I have been unable to secure the exact figures on comparative cost of material and supplies, but in 1917 it was in round numbers $700,000.00, while in 1921 it was $1,100,000.00 or an increase of $400,000.00 due very largely to increased labor costs. Taking for a comparison 1921 and 1917, the increase in cost of wages of railroad employees, fuel and material amounts to $1,535,000.00. The railroads were operating revenues in 1917 were $4,115,415.00 and in 1921 $5,516,555.00 an increase of $1,400,000.00 but $135,000.00 less than the increase in cost of wages, fuel and material. But there is another item of railway expense that must be considered, and that is taxes. In 1913, the taxes paid by railroads amounted to $120,024.00, in 1917 $250,555.00 and in 1921 $277,822.00, an increase of $149,000.00 over 1913 and $57,000.00 over 1917. To sum it up, the net railway operating increase in 1917 was $974,000.00, while in 1921 it was only $614,000.00."

"Notwithstanding the increase in freight rates in 1920, and this is due almost wholly to the increased labor cost in operating the railroads, I am not unmindful of the fact that the 1921 was a bad year, with a small volume of business, but we must also remember that in 1922 both wages and rates were reduced, the reduction in rates amounting to about ten per cent. I have not the official figures as to reduction in wages, but with the increased volume of traffic and a greater number of employees, wages paid still amount to a billion dollars a year more than in 1917. I find from a Press statement of the Interstate Commerce Commission that in 1922, the net operating income of the railroads was $777,000.00 or four per cent on their valuation."

"We have therefore, this situation that while we may expect some reductions through increasing prosperity, it is absurd to talk about reducing rates to a pre-war basis, so long as present wages are paid. Every dollar of wages as well as other costs of operation must be paid from income, and the only source of income of a railroad is freight and passenger rates. I do not contend they should be reduced. I realize that men operating our transportation system are engaged in a hazardous occupation and that they should be paid a wage higher than most other occupations. I have not discussed this matter of wages in way of criticism at all. I have just given facts, the causes for the high rates and any man who promises still higher wages and at the same time large reductions in rates is either a knave or a fool. It cannot be done."

"The Esch-Cummins law is willfully and deliberately misrepresented when it is charged with being the cause of these high rates. If the Esch-Cummins law had never been passed, the rates would have been as high or higher, for under the old law, the commission would have faced the same situation, which was that either the raise in wages in 1920 could not have been granted, or if granted without the raise in rates, ninety percent of the

FRANK CROXTON

Frank Croxton, the big bass singer, made many friends on his former appearance here with the Eight Popular Victor Artists. Wm. H. Nolan has announced a return engagement for this famous group of entertainers at the Lawrence Chapel on Thursday evening, September 27, at which time Croxton's splendid voice will be heard again.

As no composer has ever attempted to write a "jazz" tune in the bass clef, Croxton has to search the byways to find songs with a popular appeal. Being a Southerner by birth, he had the advantage of hearing the negro sing his "Spiritual" as it should be sung, and Mr. Croxton has found that his audiences are very much in love with this class of song, the result being that he usually sings one or more numbers of this kind during his part of the evening's program. In addition to his solo numbers, he sings bass with the famous Peerless Quartet.

Before joining the Peerless Quartet about five years ago, thereby becoming a member of the Victor concert party, Mr. Croxton appeared in many parts of the country as soloist with various symphony orchestras and has done much oratorio work. When not touring, he is bass soloist at the Brick Presbyterian Church, Fifth Avenue, New York.

Other members of the concert party are Henry Burr and Albert Campbell, tenors; Billy Murray, tenor-comedian; Monroe Silver, the "Cohen" story teller; Rudy Wiedoff, saxophonist, and Frank Banta, pianist. The Peerless Quartet and the Sterling Trio will each be on the program for several harmony selections.

railroads of the country would have gone into the hands of receivers. "One other thing about the Esch-Cummins law in 1920 it was constantly asserted by those who knew better that that law guaranteed a return of 5 1/2 or six per cent to the railroads on their book value, watered stock and all. Though we sometimes hear the same lie repeated now, it is not often, for those responsible for the lie know that anyone can read the reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission and prove that the statement is a lie. "The railroads have never since 1920 earned the 5 1/2 or 6 per cent and not one dollar has been paid out of the treasury for any deficits occurring during which expired on that date and thereafter September 1, 1920 and none ever will be. There was a six months guaranty has been no guaranty of any kind since. In 1920, I made a statement that the Esch-Cummins law was the most progressive law ever put upon the statute books. It did that because of the provision that every railroad must pay the government one half of all its earnings over 6 per cent. Unfortunately, some railroads are contesting the constitutionality of that provision. If it is sustained, I am ready to repeat the statement, for no other law has ever compelled the railroads to pay to the government or any state any part of its excess earnings. The first railroad commission of Wisconsin was appointed by Senator LaFollette, then governor, and that commission allowed the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad such intrastate rates as in the judgment of the commission would enable it to earn 6 per cent on the entire cost of reproduction now, and that road was permitted to keep and retain all it might earn over 6 per cent. It therefore, it becomes one to attack the Esch-Cummins law, and the Interstate Commerce Commission, which are less liberal to the railroads than was the first railroad commission of Wisconsin appointed by Senator LaFollette."

How to Relieve Neuritis

If you want genuine lasting relief from those keen, darting pains of neuritis, you must first restore the diseased nerve to sound, healthy condition.

Neuritis is nerve inflammation brought on by colds, injuries, bruises or infectious diseases. It usually centers its attack about the shoulder or base of neck, in the forearm, thigh or leg and continues in the small of the back.

For real relief procure a bottle of Eppa Neuritis Tablets from your druggist and take two tablets before each meal. The result will amaze you. Now in your life have you used anything like these marvelous tablets?

SAENGERFEST OF LUTHERAN CHOIRS GOES TO THIS CITY

Valley Saengerbund Picks Appleton At Meeting At Oshkosh Sunday

Appleton will entertain the annual saengerfest of the Fox River Valley saengerbund next summer, with its 300 singers and 10,000 visitors according to a decision of the saengerbund at a business meeting at Oshkosh Sunday. Miss Martha Tilly and Mrs. Mabel Mantoufel, members of Concordia choir of St. Paul Lutheran church, represented Appleton at the gathering.

Concordia will have charge of the local arrangements and will make up an organization in the coming months to take care of the visiting throng. The custom is to hold the saengerfest in the various cities of the valley in turn. Oshkosh entertained it this summer.

Prof. Jacobs of Fond du Lac, who directed the singing during the last year, was elected president and director for another year. Martin Dommer of Oshkosh, was named vice president, G. Zarbock of Fond du Lac, treasurer and John Kaspar, Oshkosh, secretary.

NEW EVIDENCE IS FOUND IN SEARCH FOR BEDOR SLAYER

District Attorney Gets Shoes Which Made Tracks Near Dietzler Home

Dietzler home, as was the custom, Mrs. Bedor announced that she would call on the Dietzlers and the other occupants might go on and get the groceries and call for her on the return trip.

As soon as the usual civilities were passed in the Dietzler home, Mr. Dietzler inquired of Mrs. Bedor: "Where is Ed?" Mrs. Dietzler was away from home and nobody was at home except Dietzler and his daughter, Celia. "Ed has crossed the river and gone to the Allen shack to chop firewood," Mrs. Bedor replied. When the car returned from the store, Mrs. Bedor left the Dietzler home.

Bedor crossed the river in a skiff as he had announced to his wife he would, moored his skiff in a concealed slip, entered the shack, but instead of chopping firewood, he built a fire under his still as he had a half-barrel of mash that he wished to strain and convert into moonshine that afternoon.

Meanwhile Dietzler it is said, left his home, walked to a spring in the direction of the river and, according to Sheriff Otto Zuehlke, continued his trip beyond the spring to river as is indicated by tracks from the house which the sheriff is said to have followed.

After Bedor had started a fire, he needed water for condensing purposes about the coil of his still. To get the water he carried a pail to the river, stepped down the embankment to the edge of the river, while he was filling his pail, when without warning of any kind whatsoever, his chin was stung by a hissing bullet, followed by the sharp crack of a high powered rifle.

Turning to the direction of the report, Bedor, according to his statement to Mr. Allen and others, saw the smoking rifle in the hands of his former friend, "For God's sake," he yelled, "don't shoot, Hank."

Bedor started toward the cabin and a second shot, crashed into his back, and passed through his body. Just below the belt, Bedor fell to the ground, and he says a third shot was fired but went wild.

Bedor, in a statement before he died said he saw Dietzler skulking away from the river through the timber.

Bedor struggled to his feet, staggered into the shack, crawled into the lower of two straw covered bunkers. After a time perhaps a half hour he recovered sufficiently to begin his tottering march, closing the wound in his abdomen with his hand, to tell his story.

Weakened by the loss of blood, Bedor wobbled on over bogs, through brush covered swamps, over sandbars, across muddy ravines, along creek bottoms, sinking here in quicksands and stumbling there over bogs. Utterly exhausted Bedor fell three times on the trip. The bloody sand and mud, still mark the spots where he fell.

Finally he staggered into the farmyard of Len Allen. "Len, I am a dead man. Henry Dietzler shot me on the river bank in front of the sugar shanty," Allen declares Bedor said.

Bedor, according to Allen, minutely described his movements of the day the shooting and everything connected with it, his movements after the shooting, where he lay down to rest and why he wanted to tell his story.

Mr. Allen, as soon as Bedor had finished his statement, loaded the wounded man into his car and started for the Bedor home. As the party passed the Dietzler home, Mr. Dietzler was encountered in the road going north. Allen spoke to Dietzler who appeared startled. Mr. Allen said, "At the Bedor home, Mrs. Bedor was picked up and the car moved toward Shiocton to get medical assistance. From Shiocton the wounded man was conveyed to Appleton."

doctrines of our Bible. It is a spiritual conception of human relationship. It is life in obedience to the things that are unseen.

"Throughout history men have been prone to put their trust in other things and have failed. They have sought for power through material resources alone. They have thought it might be gained by the accumulation of great riches. They have attempted to rely upon the naked force of armies and navies, conquering by the might of the sword. But these forces are not the ultimate for rulers of mankind. They are necessary for security, as police and criminal courts and bolts and bars are necessary. They are adjuncts of peace. But they are negative forces. They do not create, they resist. They are not the ultimate force in the world. They do not make the final determinations among men. Over them all is a higher power."

CAN'T DISCARD FORCE
Mankind has not yet, cannot yet, discard the use of these forces. It is significant however, that the great nations have at last agreed their limitation. But it is even more significant that civilization is coming to rely more and more upon moral force. It is because the Red Cross has been a practical application of that principle, that it has been such a tremendous success. It makes its appeal for support directly to the conscience of mankind. It does not attempt to function through the direct action of organized government. It does not have in it any element of compulsion. It is the voluntary offering of the people themselves. Whenever and wherever an emergency has resulted in human suffering, to the extent of its ability, it administers whatever may be necessary for temporary relief.

"It is this kind of practical idealism that is represented in the history of our country, a deep faith in spiritual things, tempered by a hard common sense adapted to the needs of this world. It has been illustrated in the character of men who planted colonies in the wilderness and raised up great states around the church and the schoolhouse, who bought their independence with their blood and cast out slavery by the sacrifice of their bravest sons; who offered their lives to give more freedom to oppressed peoples, and who went to the rescue of Europe with their treasure and their men when their own liberty and the liberty of the world was in peril. But when the victory was secured retired from the field unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached and unbought, still continuing to contribute lavishly to their relief of the stricken and destitute of the old world; and who but recently, being asked for five million dollars, immediately gave about twice that amount for the afflicted people of Japan. Such has been the moral purpose that has marked the conduct of our country up to the present hour. The American people have never adopted and are not likely to adopt any other course."

EXTENDS WELCOME
"Such is the strength of the influence, of which this organization is one of the representatives. It is inconceivable that it could have come thus far only to retreat, that it could have succeeded up to the present time only to fail."

"It is for these reasons that I take a large satisfaction in extending a welcome to this convention and acting as its presiding officer. I respect it for what it has done and what it has done for the world and what it has done for its origin. This organization had its beginning in the day of Abraham Lincoln. It partakes of his spirit. It shows the way to a larger freedom. Our country could secure no higher commendation, no greater place in history than to have it correctly said that the Red Cross is truly American."

NEGROES WILLING TO ELEVATE SELVES

Miss Cuthbert Talks At Church Here Urging a Chance For Colored Race

United States can best solve its Negro problem by bringing its 12,000,000 colored people up to a plane of civilization equal to that of white people, and by preventing the intermarriage of white and black people. Miss Mary Cuthbert of St. Paul Minn., told an audience at the First Congregational church in a talk Sunday evening.

Miss Cuthbert is the missionary of the Appleton church to the Negroes and spent the weekend here while on her way to Florence, Ala., where she is assistant director of the Burrill normal school for colored students.

TALKS TO CHILDREN
She gave the children's sermon at the morning service after speaking at the rally day service of the church school, and was tendered a reception by the Christian Endeavor society at 5 o'clock, when lunch was served. She spoke at the C. E. meeting of the needs of her school, and in the evening took up a discussion of "The Race Problem as Seen in a Colored School in Alabama."

Miss Cuthbert declared in her evening address that her race is a backward one, not in the sense that most of the Negroes are disinclined to educate and elevate themselves, but because they are given little opportunity to do so. She declared that for every $3 spent on a white child in the south for education in public schools there was 13 cents spent on the youths of the black race. This despite the fact that the Negro pays his full share of taxes. She mentioned the partial public school in Florence for white children, and the shack, in the true sense of the word, for the Negroes, who were fortunate if their teacher had completed the sixth grade in her preparation.

LOW CLASS MIGRATES
The speaker showed the tremendous increase in migration of Negroes to the north, especially to Chicago. She said the lowest class of colored people was the one that was lured to Chicago, and that the honest, faithful darkies of whom so much used to be said were staying in the south.

Miss Cuthbert said the missionary work of the Congregational church in the south was the "backbone" of the Negro race, and that even if every school maintained by the American Missionary association were closed up the influence would continue. She defined her race as helpless to take up the duties of a higher class of citizenship, but believes the day will come when this "leak" in the civilization of the United States will be stopped. She spoke earnestly of the sacrifice Negro boys and girls, and their low paid fathers and washer woman mammas make in order that their young ones may be educated. Concerning intermarriage, she said both whites and blacks would be better off if they "kept their blood pure," because those who thus unite find themselves neither Negroes or white people, and consequently at variance with American civilization.

43 GUARDSMEN COMPETE IN FIRST PISTOL SHOOT

Forty-three persons competed Sunday in the first annual pistol qualification and competition shoot of Company D, 127th Infantry, at the Gerry farm on School Section rd. The affair lasted practically all day. Announcement of the winners will be made later. Captain E. F. Grundeman stated Monday that the percentages are so difficult to work out that it has not been possible to complete the report, but that the exact result and the winners will be named on Tuesday.

Miss Eleanor Hewitt of Oshkosh, spent Sunday with Appleton friends. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Van Straten of Stephenville were in Appleton on Sunday.

"Cold! I'm soaked to the skin! I've been in the immediate vicinity of this camouflaged hotel for the best part of the night, walking in circles and challenged at regular intervals. I had a dozen of a job persuading one feller I wasn't the notorious Chal-Hung himself."

"Shows they're doing their work thoroughly. You'd better take a few grains of quinine and something neat to help it down. Clay's turned up, by the bye."

"That's all right. I met him in Jesselton the day after he landed. Pretty good man. I should think."

He stripped off his tunic and, coolly appropriating a blanket from Pennington's bed wrapped it round him. Pennington pushed over a small bottle of tablets and a tumbler.

"Where do you intend sleeping?"

"Here."

"Brought anything to sleep on?"

"My boy is in sole possession of a tartan travelling rug and a waterproof sheet. The rug is inside the waterproof sheet, so it's bound to be dry."

"Well, that's good enough, isn't it?"

Dawson sighed heavily.

"It would be, if I knew where the young idiot was. Unfortunately, we lost one another a decent while back and I've a notion at the back of my head he's made himself a bivouac somewhere out of the ground sheet and is peacefully snoring with my rug round his dirty shoulders."

Pennington surveyed the other dubiously.

"Suppose I'll have to fix you up. What part d'you want to take in the show tomorrow? How does the first storming party appeal to you?"

"It doesn't. I've put myself down already for the solemn hope—when everything else has failed, and I've sufficient confidence in you to refuse to believe in failure. How many of these things am I supposed to take?"

"Three's a good number. Hello! here's Clay."

Dawson nodded toward the opening.

"Evening, Clay!"

"Evening, Dawson! I say, Pennington, didn't you say the sign of the Yellow Seven was a warning of death?"

"That's right. Why?"

"Well, when I left you I walked straight to where I'd left my kit. The orderly had fixed up the tent and laid out my bed. It's a sleeping-bag, y'know, and he's never quite got the hang of it. I turned back the cover to see what he'd done—and there was this underneath."

He dropped on to the deal table a yellow Chinese playing-card with seven black dots on the upper surface.

Pennington picked it up.

"Good Lord! Have you tackled your man?"

Clay shook his head.

"That's the devil of it. I can't find him anywhere."

Pennington strode to the opening and peered out.

"Dawson had better stop here," he jerked back over his shoulder. "Clay, you and I'll embark upon a tour of inspection. There's a weak point somewhere—and it's up to us to find it."

The district officer had drawn the blanket over his head until he resembled an Indian squaw.

"I suppose I'm in full charge while you're away and am at liberty to help myself to the bottle. While fully realizing the necessity for visiting outposts on the eve of battle, Penn will excuse me. I know if I suggest you've both got the wind-up for nothing."

The man at the opening swung round on his heel.

"How'd you make that out?"

Dawson met his gaze without flinching.

"You're on the verge of tumbling into the nearest little trap our worthy antagonist has ever planned. Because Chal-Hung has succeeded in communicating with the outer world, it doesn't imply that he had to find a flaw in the line to do so. You're inordinately proud of your jungle telegraph. The Yellow Seven probably employ a system that is equally efficient. A friend beyond the charmed circle is communicated with. He drops a card casually in the enemy's camp—in a place where it can hardly fall to be noticed. Result?—a G. H. Q. tons of mistrust everywhere and two otherwise sane British officers engaging in the pleasant occupation of traitor-hunting on the wettest night we've had for months."

"Come on, Clay," shouted Pennington, whose irritability had taken him out of earshot.

"Wait half a minute. I fancy

Dawson's on the right track."

"Oh—what is it?"

"Just this," murmured the D. O.

"The dispatch from Hewitt was several hours late. You remember I remarked on it. The runner was one of Chal-Hung's agents. He wormed his way up from the rear, using the message as his passport, slipped into Clay's tent and came on to you afterward. The bandit is a pretty subtle beast, you know, and there's nothing so good as getting your opponent rattled at the start."

The tall man nodded approval and the hard lines vanished from Pennington's forehead.

"The runner from Hewitt! I never thought of that! We'll interview Rabat-Pan on our way round. I don't like the idea of that fellow wandering about with all that information with regard to our movements," remarked Pennington. He's in possession of a note signed by myself, into the bargain. Heaven only knows what use he intends to make of it."

The deluge had given way to a steady downpour as the two men passed Clay's tent.

The taller man, who was following close upon Pennington's heels, hit his foot against something soft and bulky.

"I say, Pennington!—just a second."

The other stopped and came slowly back.

He found Clay stooping over a prostrate form.

"What's the matter?"

"I'm not quite sure. There's a feller here—yes, by Jove, with a knife stuck in his back. Confound it, the moon's gone in. Got a light?"

An electric flash-lamp threw a narrow-silver ray.

Clay came to his feet.

"Dawson was right," he said quietly. "He was dead right."

"Who is it?"

"My orderly—that's all!"

Dawson moved restlessly in his sleep, then sat bolt upright. A hurricane was blowing outside.

He rubbed his eyes and yawned. He was still in sole possession of Pennington's tent. He consulted his watch. It was close on three.

Suddenly—borne on the wings of the wind—there waited to his ears the sound of rapid firing, a babel of discordant cries, and something seared through the material above his head with a spiteful, significant zip. And then—from somewhere close at hand—came the deep droning note of a Dusun gong.

"Hell!" ejaculated the District Officer—and began lacing up his boots with nervous haste. He raked out his tunic and mackintosh, felt to see that his automatic was there, and plunged for the open.

The night was alive with shadowy, flitting forms, with blazing torches, the incessant rattle of musketry. And still the deep-throated gong sent its warning message into the darkness.

He splashed his way through the trees, lit upon a bunch of bare-footed native soldiers that appeared to be taking no useful part in the affray, and led them in breathless haste toward the spot from which the alarm seemed to originate.

"Get down—all of you," he shouted—and fell on his hands almost on top of Clay, whose long legs trailed from behind a rock and whose cheek was pressed against a rifle-stock.

"That you, Dawson? Pennington's round on the far side at the only other possible point for them to break through."

Clay's rifle spoke.

"That was a beauty, Dawson. We've been at it for about an hour. The enemy achieved a minor success at the outset. Caught our rear defenses napping and a dozen or so, carrying something on a pole, managed to squirm their way through and join the main body. The Yellow Seven opened up to cover their approach—and we decided to attack."

He fired again. "We're advancing gradually all along the line. I've promised to take the slope at the point of the bayonet before dawn."

He shouted to someone behind and a rifle was pushed against Dawson's elbow. His eye fell at the same moment upon a pile of clips at Clay's side. He thrust one into the magazine.

"Chal-Hung's still up there, I suppose?"

"As far as I'm aware, nobody's brooding it. I can't for the life of me imagine what it was they carried in. It was evidently something important, because they weren't inclined to save rounds to secure its safety."

American Girl
One Who Makes Movie Succeed

New York — The only type of girl who appeals to people of all countries with equal force is the American.

Elsie Cohen, production manager of the only motion picture studio in Holland, says:

"And no matter where you take your pictures, you have to rely upon the American girl to put them over," she states.

"In Holland, for instance," she goes on, "we have the most picturesque scenery and excellent light and climate for pictures. But unless we have an American girl for the heroine, our pictures are only local in their appeal."

"I don't mean, of course, that Holland girls are not beautiful and that they are not appreciated in their native land, for some of them are very lovely. But they are not the type that appeals to the cosmopolitan taste. The American on the contrary, is just as much adored in Singapore as she is in Cincinnati."

TWO REASONS
Miss Cohen believes that there are two reasons for this. First, that the American girl is the type with the best of all nations in her, and second, because she knows so well how to dress.

"The American girl can express youth in her clothes as no other girl in the world can," she continued. "The English girl, naturally tall and athletic looking, always manages to look older and more angular than she really is in her pictures. The French girl is bound to look artificial."

"The Italian woman's naturally lovely features become too heavy under the camera. But the American girl looks on the screen just as she does on the golf links or at the matinee."

"Occasionally a foreign actress has worldwide popularity, but she is the exception that proves the rule."

PIONEER IN MOVIES
Miss Cohen makes trips to America twice a year to look over our beauty market and our plays, and to take back to Holland such actresses and films as she finds most suited to her purposes.

She is one of the women pioneers in the executive department of motion pictures. She sees a great future for women there.

"At the present time women do not realize the possibilities there are in the work behind the scenes," she concludes. "They seem to think the opportunities all lie in actually appearing on the screen. However, in time, I think the advantages will be on the other side, and I believe women should come in for their share of them."

Sister Mary's Kitchen
CABBAGE
Cabbage is one of the best foods on the market. Use it often and reduce the high cost of living as well as the doctor's bill.

It is rich in iron and contains sulphur and phosphorus to a beneficial degree. Raw cabbage is not hard to digest.

After shredding or chopping cabbage let it stand in cold salt water for an hour or longer. Drain and rinse in clear cold water. Drain for half an hour before seasoning.

CHOPPED CABBAGE
Two cups chopped cabbage, 2 sweet peppers, 1/2 teaspoon celery seed, 1/2 teaspoon mustard seed, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 4 tablespoons vinegar.

Chop cabbage and peppers very fine. Mix and let stand in a covered dish on ice for an hour. At the same time mix remaining ingredients and let stand. When ready to serve combine mixtures and use at once.

OUR FAVORITE CABBAGE
Two cups shredded cabbage, 2 teaspoons celery seed, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 3 tablespoons vinegar, 6 tablespoons oil, paprika.

Put cabbage in mixing bowl and mix well with dry dressing. Add vinegar and oil and beat well. Sprinkle with paprika and serve.

COLD SLAW
One-half medium-sized head cabbage, 1 cup sour cream, 3 teaspoons sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup vinegar.

Shred cabbage very fine and put in mixing bowl. Sprinkle with sugar and salt and bruise slightly. Have cream and vinegar very cold. Add sugar and salt and beat until stiff, keeping very cold. Mix well with cabbage and serve at once.

Thralldom Of Confinement In Kitchen
Is Solved By Unique One-Room House

BERKELEY, Calif. — How shall we rescue our women from the thralldom of kitchen confinement?

By bringing the kitchen into the living room in a "one-room house," says Bernard Maybeck, internationally famous architect of this city, and creator of the Palace of Fine Arts at the 1915 San Francisco Exposition.

"It is not the work so much as the surroundings that causes rebellion in many homes today," declares the architect.

"Usually the kitchen is placed on that side of the house with the most uninviting outlook.

"The woman is cut off from the companionship of the rest of the family.

"The drabness of the place is augmented by lack of conveniences which makes a stacking of dirty dishes and pans a necessity.

"All in all her surroundings are dreary.

"If they were made inviting, there would be a changed woman. And a changed family, too, for the happiness of the family depends upon the woman."

This was the problem that Maybeck set himself to solve. His 40 years as an architect had made him well versed in the psychology of women. He felt confident he had found the causes; now he feels equally certain he has the answers.

DESCRIPTION
The one-room house, which is offered as the new emancipator of womanhood, is a veritable quantity. Its cost depends upon the style house desired. Its plans depend upon the needs of the individual family.

But its fundamental principle is the same always, one large room built in the most attractive style possible, a number of small alcoves or nooks large enough to be dignified by the title "room," a kitchen which places mother in the center of the family and home, and everything designed for the utmost beauty.

Needless to say, the housework outside the kitchen will be minimized by the absence of dirt-attracting corners.

Maybeck admits the impossibility of freeing the house from all unpleasant work such as doing dishes and washing clothes. But he sets aside one room, the scullery, for such work. This scullery can be closed off from the kitchen before the work is started and after it is finished. Thus is substituted a short concentrated period for the "dirty work" instead of the present long, lingering process.

The kitchen is separated from the living room by a sliding panel. When opened it becomes practically a part of the larger room and gives the housewife a vista of her beautiful home in its entirety.

PLEASANT SURROUNDINGS
From the kitchen windows she can see her garden or, depending upon the surroundings, some other beautiful view. For an important part of the design is that these windows shall look only upon pleasant things.

The dining table is in the living room. Near it and within easy reach of the housewife's hand as she dines are three electric burners. Thus she does her light cooking as she eats. When the meal is over the table is converted into a parlor table.

Grouped around this main room and always subservient to it, are sleeping accommodations, closets, baths and any special nooks that the individual family desires.

The first one-room houses, all in this district, are built with much glass. These windows slide up into receiving niches and allow for the house being converted into an almost entirely outdoors structure.

The sleeping accommodations are divisions of a sleeping porch which occupies one whole side of the house. Thus far only the more well-to-do people have built the new houses, but their creator predicts they will become popular with newly-weds and farmers.

FOR NEWLYWEDS
"Newly married couples will find a solution of a financial problem in these houses," Maybeck says. "So many couples are afraid to put their money into a house adequate for their present needs, but which may become too small as the years progress."

"One of the principles of the 'one-room' houses is that they shall be built with an eye to the addition of more rooms as necessity demands. And this without sacrificing anything of beauty or utility, and without that 'added-on' appearance so often seen in old-style houses."

"The farmers will find the 'one-room' house economical to build. The farmer's wife, whose duties are usually more numerous than those of her town sister, will find in it a boon toward finishing her work with in a reasonable time."

"But I most deeply trust the fact will never be forgotten that these houses are dedicated to the spiritual uplift and broadening of women, and that beauty of architecture, furnishings and surroundings should be predominant."

Little Perier, on the contrary, knows how to economize. The very fact that she told you she received more from your gift than you paid for it, shows she has a thrifty mind and is one that can make the best of a financial slump.

I am rather glad that things have turned out this way. In fact, I'm very glad Paula has kept back that one letter which I expect is the most incriminating.

I don't want you to get off too easy, Jack. I hope fear and remorse will gnaw at your vitals for some time to come, for between you and me, Jack, you did play Paula a damned trick.

While I hope I am not one of those "holier than thou" persons I think, had I been in your shoes however hard I had been howled over by Leslie, I would have tried to have gotten out of the old love before I had gotten into the new.

I know what you are saying, Jack—that it's very easy to preach. And I am still holding back in my mind an excuse for you that possibly I might have done the same thing after all.

I shall "damn please" to come over and see you as soon as you return. I like Leslie, like her whole family very much except the man she married.

Goodbye, old chap. I'm glad some of your troubles are over. SID.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

I confess, old chap, I read poor little Paula's letter, which you sent me without any comment, with tears in my eyes.

I never thought she had so much soul, but I guess that is where most of us make a mistake in regard to the women whom we like and leave.

We are so apt to simply divide the feminine sex into two classes, good or bad, and I have almost come to the conclusion that all women are good and bad. They are just human after all, exactly as we are, Jack.

It seems to me that we should get over the old story that there is a part of us which no good woman can satisfy. Nowadays men are not beasts, although I expect when you read poor little Paula's letter you felt yourself one. Anyway, we have outgrown the cave man and why should the rest of the tradition, that it takes both an angel and a devil to make a man perfectly happy, still linger?

I'm not so sure, Jack, that if you had married Paula Perier, she would not have made you happier than Leslie. Leslies are too good for you and besides she is essentially a daughter of luxury. She can't help that, poor girl. It is the way she has been brought up, the environment into which she was born.

We are so apt to simply divide the feminine sex into two classes, good or bad, and I have almost come to the conclusion that all women are good and bad. They are just human after all, exactly as we are, Jack.

It seems to me that we should get over the old story that there is a part of us which no good woman can satisfy. Nowadays men are not beasts, although I expect when you read poor little Paula's letter you felt yourself one. Anyway, we have outgrown the cave man and why should the rest of the tradition, that it takes both an angel and a devil to make a man perfectly happy, still linger?

I'm not so sure, Jack, that if you had married Paula Perier, she would not have made you happier than Leslie. Leslies are too good for you and besides she is essentially a daughter of luxury. She can't help that, poor girl. It is the way she has been brought up, the environment into which she was born.

Little Perier, on the contrary, knows how to economize. The very fact that she told you she received more from your gift than you paid for it, shows she has a thrifty mind and is one that can make the best of a financial slump.

I am rather glad that things have turned out this way. In fact, I'm very glad Paula has kept back that one letter which I expect is the most incriminating.

I don't want you to get off too easy, Jack. I hope fear and remorse will gnaw at your vitals for some time to come, for between you and me, Jack, you did play Paula a damned trick.

While I hope I am not one of those "holier than thou" persons I think, had I been in your shoes however hard I had been howled over by Leslie, I would have tried to have gotten out of the old love before I had gotten into the new.

I know what you are saying, Jack—that it's very easy to preach. And I am still holding back in my mind an excuse for you that possibly I might have done the same thing after all.

I shall "damn please" to come over and see you as soon as you return. I like Leslie, like her whole family very much except the man she married.

Goodbye, old chap. I'm glad some of your troubles are over. SID.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

I confess, old chap, I read poor little Paula's letter, which you sent me without any comment, with tears in my eyes.

I never thought she had so much soul, but I guess that is where most of us make a mistake in regard to the women whom we like and leave.

SUNDAY'S RESULTS

APPLETON 6, FOND DU LAC 5. Neenah-Menasha 8, Mar-Men. 2. Sheboygan 9, Green Bay 3. Oshkosh 11, Kaukauna 0.

Appleton wound up the baseball season by defeating the Red Sox, 6 to 5, Sunday afternoon at Fond du Lac. Marty Lamers outpitched Weaver, but four errors by his teammates came near costing him the game.

ARRANGE TITLE SERIES

Because of the tie which exists in the State league between Neenah-Menasha and Sheboygan, Bill Liebel of the Chair City "Eagle," president of the league, and Noe, secretary of the circuit, will meet at the Elks club at Fond du Lac on Tuesday to arrange details of the three game title series. Mayor Haentze of Fond du Lac will flip the coin to decide which of the two cities will get the first game.

ed in the apple and made a long heave to Marty Lamers, who relayed it to Wenzel who caught Senecal at the rubber. Spier fled to Len Smith and the three bagger was wasted.

Les Smith ran it out after being struck out, and when Runke made a wild throw to first, reached second. Spier booted T. Lamers' drive all over the lot, permitting Les Smith to score and giving Ted time to take second, from where he reached the home plate on Weisberger's single. Weaver caught Wenzel's infield fly and threw Weisberger out, while Len Smith's sizzler found a safe berth in McLaughlin's mitt where throw beat him to first. An error by Weisberger and two base hits by McLaughlin and Zinke together with Steen's sacrifice tied the score, and it was only Marty Lamers' pitching that prevented the Red Sox from getting the lead. Marty struck out the two next men up and retired the side.

FOUR RUNS IN THIRD

In the third stanza, the Papermakers turned four hits, a base on balls and an error into four runs. Gerad was the first man at bat. Weaver walked him and he reached third when Weaver who had caught Marty Lamers' fly threw it over Bohlman's head. Sylvester, Brautigan and Les Smith each hit safely and were scored by T. Lamers' sacrifice and a single by Weisberger.

The Red Sox threatened to overtake the rest of the game in the fourth when Brautigan booted Durain's grounder, and again missed a bad bound of McLaughlin's sizzler. Zinke struck out, and Runke followed with a single to leftfield. Wenzel muffed the ball at the rubber and Durain scored while McLaughlin reached third on the passed ball. Weaver cut a life, and Senecal poked out a one base hit, scoring McLaughlin and Runke, which made it three runs for that inning.

Neither team succeeded in scoring during the rest of the game although Sylvester reached third base on a walk, a single by Brautigan, and Ted Lamers' fly to rightfield in the fifth.

Weisberger and Senecal were the heavy hitters of the contest. Amby poked out three singles in four times up, while Senecal improved his average with three singles and a triple in five times at bat.

RIVERVIEW GOLFERS DEFEAT FOND DU LAC

Riverview Country Club golfers Saturday defeated the team of the Fond du Lac Town and Country Club, 12 to 11, in the final team match of the season.

SHEBOYGAN WINS CHANCE TO PLAY PAIRS FOR FLAG

Chairs Humble Lynch's Green Bay Tribe, 9 To 5. In Sunday Contest

Sheboygan — Sheboygan stayed in the Wisconsin State league pennant chase and won its chance to play Neenah-Menasha on Sunday, when the Liebi men defeated Bobby Lynch's Green Bay club by a score of 9 to 5.

Nine two base hits and a home run were the features of the game. Lynch's aggregation started the contest off by getting three runs in the first inning, plugging Buster Braun for three doubles and a walk. But Sheboygan went the Bays one better in the second time at bat, and, though the Bays counted again in the third, tying it up and went one ahead in the fifth. Larry Barton poked one over the fence after Wilke had scored the fifth run for the Chairs making the score big enough to win handily.

Kenosha — With the Midwest league pennant at stake, Simmons company of Kenosha and Nash Motors of Kenosha battled ten innings here on Sunday, the Simmons finally winning 11 to 8, and annexing the league bulleting.

It was the last day of play of the league. The Fairies of Beloit splitting a double header at Beloit and thus being nosed out for the pennant. The game was played before a record crowd of more than 7,000 packed into the Nash stadium here.

Three times the score was tied, to have Simmons get a three run lead in the tenth when Spaulding smacked out a triple after Warner and Jackson had singled and finally scored on Crutcher's sacrifice. Simmons scored three runs in the first and Nash tied the count in their half when Hayden doubled with the bases loaded. Simmons again took the lead in the fifth when Latrop's triple featured.

Nash used four hurlers in an effort to halt the charge and when Napol was hit hard in the first, Bill Latrop went in and hurled the rest of the way. Warner's homer in the tenth with no one on was another feature.

Puzzling Play's

THE PLAY

In the last half of the ninth inning, with the score a tie at 3 to 3, the home team fills the bases with one out.

The batsman works the count to two balls and two strikes. After fouling off a couple of good pitches, the umpire calls a ball, entailing the runner to first and all runners to advance.

The runner on third crossed the plate with the winning run. The batsman jogged down and touched first. The runner on first went to within about 10 feet of second and then ran to the club house. The runner on second went within about the same distance of third and then broke for the club house.

THE INTERPRETATION

When the batsman received a base on balls with the score a tie, and the bases filled in the last half of the ninth, the game was officially over.

The base on balls entitled the runner on third to score, besides it entitled the batsman to go to first, the runner on first to advance to second, and the runner on second to move over to third.

The failure of the runners to touch second and third did not make them liable to be put out. While it was a bit of carelessness on their part in failing to do so, yet the umpire should have paid no attention to the claim of an out at each base. The home team won the game, 4 to 3.

Columbia Grid Chiefs

Work Of Untired Rookie Features Giants' Play

New York — "Travis Jackson is the most remarkable young ball player developed in the majors this year."

There you have the opinion of Hughie Jennings, assistant to Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants. It is some compliment, coming from so able a critic as Jennings.

Travis Jackson is the young infielder who has proved such a valuable man for the New York Giants this year. To Jackson perhaps, more than any other player on the club, should go the honor of keeping the Giants in the race.

When Dave Bancroft, star shortstop of the Giants, was forced out of the lineup for over two months because of illness, it was figured the Giants were out of it. No position is harder to fill. To ask some youngster to plug the gap made by the departure of a star like Bancroft from the lineup, seemed to be asking too much.

Jackson stepped right in and filled the bill, despite the fact that he has had only about a year's experience in professional ball. While he didn't do as well as Bancroft probably would have done, still he played a great game for an untired recruit.

Since the return of Bancroft he has filled in at third for the ailing Groh, and also has played second in a number of games. His work for the Giants in a pinch certainly bears out the nice things that Jennings says about him.

Dempsey Says Firpo Needs Real Trainer

Salt Lake City, Utah — With one eye slightly disfigured, but otherwise looking the champion that he is, Jack Dempsey, world's premier boxer, is home in Salt Lake City until next Wednesday. He will go from here to Los Angeles, where he will look after some business affairs and then take a rest. He announced that he would probably do some motion picture work while in California.

The champion, when asked his opinion of Firpo as a fighter, stated that the man from South American was good, but he "should lay off the child concern, and get a good American trainer."

Dempsey announced he would be willing to fight Firpo next year, after Firpo had received a little more experience.

PACKERS COP FIRST GRID CONTEST FROM HIBBING SQUAD, 10-0

Invaders Are Unable To Withstand Wonderful Aerial Attack Of Home Squad

Green Bay — Displaying a wonderful aerial attack, the Green Bay Packers, professional football champions of Wisconsin, defeated the Hibbing Miners here on Sunday, in the opening game of the season by the score of 10 to 0. A huge crowd attended.

Hibbing presented a stone wall forward line but they proved unable to cope with the Packers' air attack. Time after time Captain Lambeau hurled the pigskin into the waiting arms of Wheeler, Mathys and Lyle for considerable yardage.

The Packers first score came in the second quarter. Ursella standing on his twenty yard line attempted to punt. Earsp smashed through and blocked the ball. Lyle covered it behind the goal line. Lambeau added another point.

In the third quarter the Packers marched down the field but a penalty halted the procession. Buck stepped back to the thirty yard mark and playkicked the pigskin through the uprights. The Packers threatened several times in the final period but Hibbing held tight in the shadow of its goal posts. The team lined up as follows:

BEAULIEU WINS CADDIES' CROWN

Riverview Country Club Links Boys Play Close Match—es Saturday

Lester Beaulieu Saturday won the golf championship of the Riverview Country club, caddies playing against a field of seven of his mates. He shot his eighteen holes in 85, and was tied by Ed DeYoung, but won on the nineteenth hole.

Rudolph Dumke, Conrad Verbrick and Ray Murphy were tied for third place with 101 after the eighteenth hole. Dumke and Verbrick each got a five on the nineteenth, while Murphy dropped out with a six. The twentieth brought a four for Dumke and another five for Verbrick, which put Dumke third, Verbrick fourth and Murphy fifth. Henry Johnson was close on Murphy's heels with a 105.

Joe Devandt and George Vanderheyden also played but did not succeed in placing.

KIMBERLY HUMBLER WAUSAU CLUB, 9-4

Wausau Industrial Leaders Defeated Second Time By Champions

The Marathon Paper company team of Wausau was defeated, 9 to 4 Saturday by the Kimberly Industrial team. A large crowd witnessed the game. Doemke, Martin, and Schneider were the battery for Wausau while McDonald and Ayers did the heavy work for Kimberly. After the game a dinner was served to both teams by the finishing room girls. Dancing was held in the dining hall.

The Maroon football team of Cornbelt Lake was defeated 12 to 0 by the Holy Name team, in a game played in the Kimberly ball park.

Plan For Winter

A meeting of Appleton Grocers association will be held Tuesday evening at South Masonic hall. A program for the fall and winter will be arranged.

MENASHA HUMBLER BRESNAHAN TRIBE, 8-2 IN LAST GAME

Four Errors By Twins And Eight Hits By Pails Win Contest For Leaders

Menasha — Menasha had little trouble trouncing the Twins here in the final game of the season. Rush held the visitors to four scattered hits. The locals felled brilliantly behind Rush and coupled with the visitors errors made eight hits count for eight runs.

CHIDESTER ELIMINATED IN CITY TENNIS MATCH

R. V. Landis Saturday defeated G. H. Chidester, 6-2, 6-3, in the second round of play for the city tennis championship. Chidester won the first set, 6-3, but was unable to keep up the pace and went down to defeat in the next two under Landis' drives.

Chicago — Cincinnati advanced in the National league race Sunday by defeating Brooklyn, 5 to 1 while New York and Pittsburgh were idle. The Reds are now the only contenders for the league pennant, however, as the Pirates, even if they won all their games while the Giants lost all theirs, would still be half a game behind the Reds are now four to the bad.

The Giants need four victories to insure the world's series. Chicago defeated Philadelphia in the National league, 4 to 1. Osborne holding the Phillies to three hits, Boston won a doubleheader from St. Louis, 2 to 1 and 3 to 0.

In the American league Cleveland and Washington split a doubleheader. Allowing Brooklyn but five hits, Adolph Luque, the Cuban, registered his twenty-sixth victory of the season.

Berlin Orders Resistance In Ruhr Stopped

Stresemann Announces Immediate Resumption Of Work In Mine District

OCCUPATION IS ALLEVIATED

Poincare Will Communicate With London When Germany Starts Action

By Associated Press
Berlin—Germany has decided to end unconditionally her weaponless and moral fight against the occupation of her economic stronghold, the Ruhr, and an immediate resumption of work has been ordered in all fields of activity affected by the policy of passive resistance.

Chancellor Stresemann, making this announcement Monday night after a long conference with representatives of labor, industry and the civilian populations of the Ruhr and Rhineland, said the government's present efforts would be directed toward obtaining the release of prisoners and the return of taxes. Attempts to accomplish these purposes as well as to obtain guarantees of the restoration of German sovereignty in the occupied region had been unavailing, the chancellor said, thus passive resistance had lost its purpose and had become even harmful to the best interests of the country.

The conference at which the decision to capitulate was made was attended by 300 Germans representing all political parties.

"In the course of battle," he chancelled said, "it sometimes becomes necessary to surrender or evacuate a fortress because it requires too many men, too much food and too much ammunition."

Announcement of the government's decision was given to the newspapers after the conclusion of the discussion.

MILDER OCCUPATION
Paris—Premier Poincare's next move in view of Germany's economic surrender will be to ask the international commission to deal with the new situation, it was indicated Tuesday. As soon as the German government officially withdraws its resistance orders, directions will be sent General DeGoutte to make the Ruhr occupation as nearly "invisible" as possible.

The action of the German government Monday is not regarded here as finally clearing the situation in the Ruhr. The resistance there will be considered as ended when Berlin withdraws all orders given the functionaries and people of the Ruhr to resist the authorities of occupation.

The French premier and his associates in the cabinet appear to have received the news soberly and without the thrill which it has given the French people and the authorities, and having long expected the German decision, Premier Poincare is at his summer home in Compiègne, will return Tuesday night. The passing over of the pending problems to the reparation commission would be merely a formality. Consequently it is foreseen Premier Poincare's first order will be to arrive at an understanding with the British government as to what shall be done.

Premier Poincare will communicate with the British premier as to what Berlin has taken the first direct step toward a settlement.

The French premier's general view is understood, is that the reparation commission should avoid directions of a too specific nature to Chancellor Stresemann as to the expedients to be employed in straightening out Germany's tangled finances.

COURT WILL DECIDE ON ZONE, TAX, AND DRY LAWS

By Associated Press
Madison—The Wisconsin supreme court meets again Oct. 16, to call for argument 10 additional cases on the autumn, 1923 calendar, and to hand down the final decision of the term.

A court ruling is looked for in the three cases affecting constitutionality of the state building legislation, the question of the transportation of the state building, and the constitutionality of the new automobile law, which is expected to be decided on the first of the October 20 call.

Oregon Girls Kidnaped By Unknown Men

By Associated Press
Madison—Vivian Flint and Nora Thorkelsen, both 10 years of age, of Oregon, are reported to have been kidnaped Monday afternoon by two young men in a big enclosed automobile. Sheriff Julius Krug here, has been appealed to for assistance.

Reports state that the two girls were accosted by the men who drove up in front of the school house. They were asked to "go for a ride." Neither of the girls has been seen since.
An all night search of the county was conducted by S. P. Thorkelsen father of one of the girls, and his son T. J.
Thorkelsen.

STATE RESTS CASE IN WARD MURDER TRIAL

Prosecution Seeks To Prove Slayer Attempted To Secure Father's Money

By Associated Press
White Plains, N. Y.—Shortly after the opening of court Tuesday the state rested its case in the prosecution of Walter S. Ward, charged with murdering Clarence Peters of Haverhill, Mass., and the court adjourned until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The action on the part of the prosecution came unexpectedly. It had been thought that presentation of the state's case would take at least several days more. The announcement was made following a conference at which Ralph Ward, brother of the accused man, was present.

Walter S. Ward's trial for the murder of Clarence Peters opened Tuesday with two of its expected thrills gone by with much interest hanging on the prosecution's case. The prosecution's case would take at least several days more. The announcement was made following a conference at which Ralph Ward, brother of the accused man, was present.

WIFE TAKES STAND
One when Beryl Curtis Ward, wife of the accused, took the stand and told of her husband's return home on the night of the shooting. The other was when Mrs. Inez Peters, mother of the slain ex-soldier, testified that her son was "a good boy" and that despite his little brushes with the law and his inability to hold a steady job he had never been in serious trouble.

The only definite legal hint as to what the plot could have been was an affidavit read to the jury last week.
It was made by James Cunningham, race track follower. It charged that George S. Ward was victimized by a man who was used in a plot with "Boss" and "Rogers" the much sought blackmailers.

The older Ward did not pay, but "started an investigation," the affidavit read.

COURT GIVES FINAL VERDICT ON PATENT

By Associated Press
Madison—A decision in the case of Burrows Battery Laboratories vs. the French Battery and Carbon Co., a patent case which has taken more than a year to complete, was handed down by the Wisconsin supreme court Tuesday by Judge E. Ray Stevens.
Both parties are virtually winners in the case.

The Burrows company is granted the right to the electric patent, a process most valuable in the manufacture of dry cell batteries, while the French Battery company was awarded the right to a number of other patents in question.

LOWER FREIGHT MAY HELP WHEAT FARMER

President Coolidge and Cabinet Consider Northwestern Agricultural Problem

By Associated Press
Washington—Reduction of freight rates on wheat and flour destined for export and increase of the present tariff on wheat, were considered by President Coolidge and his cabinet Tuesday as possible remedies for the ills of the wheat farmers of the northwest.

The discussion which resulted in no definite decision followed presentation by Secretary Wallace of a report of the world situation prepared at the direction of Mr. Coolidge. Both plans in the opinion of the president are worthy of serious consideration, and as neither require action by congress, it was believed that the president has now changed his mind against calling congress in special session.

SUICIDE BLAMES MOON IN LETTER

By Associated Press
Oakbrook—Herbert Pomeroy, aged 41, committed suicide by hanging in the barn at the rear of his residence, presumably some time during Monday evening. His lifeless body was found Tuesday morning by John G. Just, of Green Bay, a friend, and Mrs. Walter Reininger, who lives upstairs in the same residence.

A note which he left did away with any doubt as to the cause of his death.
The note read: "Best. I am a fool.
don't wake me. What caused me to do this was moonshine," and he named three or four places in Wisconsin.
While those names were not connected up grammatically with the foregoing statement, they are supposed to indicate that he had purchased liquor at each of them.

MINING CONGRESS OPENS SESSION IN MILWAUKEE

ization of mine equipment, methods and processes and taxation problems were in the forefront, the twenty-sixth eral session here Tuesday, with Edney J. Burdick, vice president of the capacity as president of the congress.

Despatch To Bulgar Legation Says Revolt Is Scattered And Well Under Control Of Loyal Troops

By Associated Press
Paris—The official version of the situation in Bulgaria as set forth in dispatches by the Bulgarian legation here Tuesday was as follows:

The Soviet movement is scattered, being confined to small settlements among which there is no cohesion and which have little power of resistance.
The work of repression is very difficult because the movement is most general in the mountainous regions and the small Bulgarian army has insufficient strength to deal with such scattered uprisings over a widespread area. When troops are able to reach the scene of an outbreak the Communists surrender immediately, and generally it is not necessary for the troops to use violence.

The life of the Soviet regime in the localities where it has been established has been between two and fourteen hours in length.

NORTH MOST AFFECTED

Northern Bulgaria is now the region most affected. The Soviets in the south appear to have been discouraged by the prompt action of the authorities. Their last attempt at asserting power was when they cut the communications between Sofia and Constantinople, but these lines have been reestablished and order has been restored.

Conflicting stories of the situation in Bulgaria were current Monday night. A despatch to the London Morning Post, dated Belgrade, said that the revolution has burst into full flame and that the entire country was in the hands of rebels who had destroyed all means of communication.
Sofia was said to be short of food and threatened with an attack.

A Sofia despatch on the other hand quoted a semi-official statement, issued Monday as saying that peace had been restored in the south, although several centers of Communist dissimulation still existed in the north. The Paris newspaper, Le Journal received a despatch to the same effect.

TROOPS INADEQUATE

Sofia—The government announced Sunday that the situation created by the Communist uprising, both in northern and southern Bulgaria, is in control of the military forces used by civilian volunteers. Sporadic outbreaks are continuing however, and the Communist made an attempt Saturday night to capture the telephone and telegraph wires by cutting the wires leading from the central office at Sofia and from the artillery barracks.
The authorities have discovered the existence of the Communist movement in the design of the turbulent Communist army to exhaust Bulgaria's small military force by constant alarms in the city and within part of the country, with the idea of leading the volunteers to refuse duty on the ground that the work will be unavailing.

20 CREWS IN CAMPAIGN TO GET MEMBERS

"Automobile Race" Gets Enthusiastic Start At Meeting Monday Night

1,500 MEMBERS IS GOAL

Speechmaking And Feasting Puts Campaigners In Good Humor For Drive

They're off!
Twenty automobiles entered in the biggest membership race that probably was ever promoted in Appleton lined up to the mark in four divisions.
At the crack of the pistol shot fired by George L. Goodwin, starter, twenty speed demons, each accompanied by seven assistant drivers, dashed off and began burning up the dust on the 1,500 mile track that leads from Appleton through Wisconsin, Minnoso-tia, Iowa, Illinois and back.

Promoter F. J. Harwood, who had been busy for weeks preparing for this event, dropped back into his chair and rubbed his hands with satisfaction, not having anything else to rub them with.

The four division judges, W. G.
Commentz, G. E. Packard, W. O.
Thiele and Frank Wright, tried to hold down their seats with the gravity becoming members of the robe and wig, but the excitement of the contest had taken most of the magnetism out of their chairs.

GET FLYING START

The starting point was the F. M. C.
A. gymnasium, made over into a hanquet hall. It is safe to say that no Kentucky derby ever had as many contestants as there were entered in the F. M. C. A. automobile race.

Following instructions by Mr. Harwood and Mr. Goodwin, international secretary, who had come down just to help things along, the drivers and their crews made a dash for their numbers, or the prospect member cards, entered

PISTOL ACCIDENT FATAL TO VICTIM

Stratford Man Shot Through Heart When Friend Dis-

Wassau—Anton Brel of Stratford, aged 22 years, was accidentally shot through the heart and instantly killed late Monday at that place. The deceased had gone to the Motor Inn to secure a pistol from William Spindler, aged 28, with which to kill some bogs. He was given an automatic pistol but it contained two cartridges he was unable to remove. He asked Mr. Spindler to remove them and he attempted the task. One was removed safely when the second was discharged the ball passing through Mr. Brel's heart. Coroner W. C. McElahan investigated and decided an inquest was not necessary, there being no doubt but that the shooting was purely accidental.

Red Cross Address Is First Pub-

PRESIDENT NOT PACIFIST

Administration Believes America Has Done Enough For Peace Of World

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—President Coolidge
Monday made his first long speech.
Relatively speaking it was brief—not more than a thousand words but it says more than the chief executive has been willing to say publicly since he took office. Although there is no direct reference to foreign policy in the speech he delivered to the annual convention of the American Red Cross here there are principles enunciated in it which will without doubt chart the course of Mr. Coolidge in world affairs.

For one thing, Mr. Coolidge is not an out-and-out pacifist. He says that while force is not the "ultimate ruler of mankind," nevertheless "regardless of the use of these forces" he regards as significant that great nations have agreed upon limitation of armament and that civilization is "coming to rely more and more upon moral force."

Using the Red Cross idea as a symbol of a policy of practical idealism, the president argues that its appeals have been effective because they have been "directly to the conscience of mankind" without "any element of compulsion."

NEED PRACTICAL ACTION
The ancient ideals of human brotherhood, of service, the application of the golden rule of "do unto others as you would be done by," are idle dreams," says President Coolidge "unless they can be translated into practical action."

At this point Mr. Coolidge does not outline what course would be one of "practical action" in the present disturbed state of world affairs but he says guardedly that "it is necessary, on the one hand, to avoid the illusions of the idealists, and on the other hand, the indifference of the selfish."
This idea of not going to extremes in either direction but steering in the middle of the lane was the late President Harding's reiterated doctrine of caution. Mr. Coolidge insists also that "each individual and each nation owe their first duty to themselves" and that beyond that there is "the obligation of the strong to serve the weak but to administer such service in a way that will not destroy or degrade by making mend-icants but will restore and strengthen by making character."

AMERICA HAS DONE ENOUGH

This is in a nutshell an expression of the American government's policy which indicates that Mr. Coolidge adopts almost wholly the attitude of his predecessor in believing that America has done enough for Europe.
There are those in European chan-nelers who believe the peace of the world was not secure when America withdrew from European affairs and that the sudden departure of American power and influence contributed much to the chaos of reconstruction out of which Europe has been struggling to emerge, but the view usually taken in the Washington government since the war whenever the subject is raised by Europeans, is that America has not been responsible—a conflict of opinion which time and history may some day resolve. The interesting thing is that President Coolidge announces virtually a hands off policy in Europe at least, until Europe shall help itself and work out her own salvation.

SEEK NEW YORK BANKER IN CINCINNATI THEFTS

New York—Assistant District Attorney Hastings in Tombs court Tuesday

ern and Western Insurance company

Seventy Die In Flooded Glasgow Pit

By Associated Press
Glasgow—Seventy lives are believed to have been lost Tuesday when a deep pit at the James Nimmo company's colliery near Falkirk was flooded.

The water which flooded the pit broke through the walls of an adjoining pit which had not been used for years. The active pit was flooded so quickly that there was no opportunity to warn the miners. They had no chance to get to the pit head and only one man escaped after the rush of water.

GOUGH PAPERS REFUSE STRIKE CHIEFS' OFFER

Newspapers Double In Size Despite Absence Of Local Union Workers

By Associated Press
New York—Despite the fact that New York newspaper publishers refused to take back their striking pres-men unless full terms of an agreement signed with the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' union were met the combined morning newspapers issued since the strike began a week ago were doubled in size Tuesday.

Each paper had fourteen pages and for the first time since the walkout display advertising appeared to an appreciable extent. Editorials however, still were absent.

The offer of the pressmen to return to work was conditional. Foreman visited the publishers, it was stated, and said they would bring their crews back under the provisions of the agreement with the International providing they would not be compelled to recognize George Berry of the organization. They also would not recognize David Simons, head of Local Web Pressmen's union No. 25, which had its charter revoked by Mr. Berry. The publishers, however, refused, telling the men they must recognize the international union and obtain cards from it.

TURKS SPECULATE ON NEW GOVERNMENT

Constantinople—The question of the form and name of the new Turkish state, which must be settled before Turkey is able to resume full diplomatic relations with the rest of the world, is absorbing attention here and in Ankara.

It is virtually certain that Turkey will be declared a republic, the head of the government, being either a president or a chief of state, as in Pe-land. The first occupant of the executive office is expected to be Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who in a recent interview said that Turkey was in ready a republic except in name and constitution, and might soon become even more democratic.

The seat of the government is also a question of wide discussion which will be determined concurrently with the designation of the state.

YOUTH FOUND SLAIN IN DESERTED SHACK

Ashland—Emerson Thornton, 12, son of Samuel Thornton of Odanah, was found dead with a bullet hole through his heart in a secret shack at Odanah, Monday morning. A 25 calibre automatic revolver was at his side. The coroner is investigating.

Three young men who were found in a box car near the shack were arrested and are in the Ashland jail awaiting the outcome of the investigation by the coroner.

Governor Calls On All Male Citi- zens Between 21 And 45 Years Of Age

PLEDGE IS IRREVOCABLE

Proposed Session Said To Be Unlawful And Dominated By Klu Klux

By Associated Press
Oklahoma City—State troops, with orders from Governor J. C. Walton, to use all force of arms if necessary,
were being marshalled here Tuesday, to prevent the impeachment session of the lower house of the Oklahoma legislature called for noon Wednesday.

Determined legislators gathered manwhile to lay final plans for attempting to meet in defiance of the executive.

Irrevocably pledged to his course, Governor Walton Monday night issued instructions to Adjutant General B.
H. Markham, to draw upon all the military forces of the state if necessary to block the proposed assembly.
Expressing the hope that no excessive measures would be required, Governor Walton asserted nevertheless "shoot to kill" orders would be given the troops should such drastic action be necessary to disperse legislators.

CALLS FOR ASSISTANCE
With the crisis approaching, the executive commanded all male citizens of the state between the ages of 21 and 45 years to hold themselves in readiness to "come to the assistance of the sovereign State of Oklahoma," when summoned by the governor or the adjutant general. The "citizen soldiers" were ordered to prepare to bear such arms as they possess, or are able to obtain.

The governor's order declared that the proposed house session would be an unlawful assembly dominated by the Ku Klux Klan, which organization under his martial law proclamation is declared to be an enemy of the State of Oklahoma. Furthermore, he charged the meeting would be "in defiance and violation of the statutes of the state of Oklahoma, now under military law, and also contrary to the constitution and laws of the state." It would be a direct attempt to break the peace, he asserted.

WILL PREVENT MOVE
If the legislators attempt to hold the session at any place in the state other than the state capitol, Adjutant General Markham is instructed to take steps to prevent such a move.

House members, here for the purpose of assembling, were expected to decide upon a course of procedure at a caucus scheduled for Tuesday night.
Representative W. D. McEee who drew the call for the session, and other leaders refused early Tuesday to reveal their plans. Determination however, to fight to the last ditch for what they claim to be their right to convene and to consider the executive's official acts, was expressed by the house members. That they had no intention to resort to force, but would take their case to the courts, was the statement of all the legislators interviewed.
